BENNETT PLANS ELECTION COUP!

Stevens' Party Is Committed For Money Reforms

PEACE RIVER IS NOW ISOLATED FROM ALBERTA

Highway Destruction Leaves Block Completely Outside Lines

DAWSON CREEK, B.C., July 11.—After being isolated from Edmonton for several weeks the Peace River block is now isolated from Alberta completely. One hundred and fifty feet of the main highway was washed out by Bisette creek south of Pouce Coupe on Sunday.

The temporary bridge over the Kiskatinaw at Arras, erected two months ago to replace the structure washed away in April has collapsed, cutting off all communications and supplies for hundreds of farmers to the west.

Coal Creek bridge on the Fort St. John highway has been closed to traffic owing to its condition and that of the approaches. Owing to lack of communication exact damage in various districts is not known but probably seven or more smaller bridges are washed away.

The Pouce Coupe river at Pouce Coupe has overflowed and the creamery is inundated but machinery has been removed, two garages and one ice house have been carried away by Bissette creek at Pouce Coupe and one house is partly submerged. Mail traffic is all disrupted, no papers or parcels have been received here for two weeks.

A bad washout on the railway at Mile 114, near Tupper, is reported. Three days heavy rain starting Saturday is cause of the trouble.

CHURCH UNDER PICKET THREAT

Rev. G. H. Williams, minister of the church, saw leaders of the local painters and was successful in appealing to them to desist from picketing until another meeting with the contractor under whom the work is being done.

3,000 DIE IN CHINA FLOOD: HONAN RUINED

Yangtze Wipes Out Rich Province—River Choked With Dead

SHANGHAI, July 11—Swirling flood waters of the Hwang Ho river today wiped out the town of Yen-Cheng, near Yenze, and inundated adjoining districts in the Province of Honan, with a loss of life conservatively estimated at 3,000. Hundreds of bodies were carried down stream by the rushing waters.

In the worst floods this region has seen in 30 years many thousands were left homeless and faced with starvation.

Only about 100 persons escaped when the crest of the flood swept through Yen-Cheng. A thousand persons, it is estimated, perished there in a short time.

The main centre of the inundation was the Yenze region, where most of the deaths occurred.

DEATH TOLL MOUNTS

The second point where the floods spread with alarming rapidity was at Yangtse.

The death list from floods in the Hankow region continued to mount today while serious floods occurred at Fancheng.

A vast inland lake 600 miles long and many miles wide, the Yangtze, "China's Sorrow," tumbled onward toward the sea, spreading death and destruction through eight rich provinces in the nation's heart. The

FASCISTS KICK ON OTTO DEAL

VIENNA, July 11. — Simmering dissension bordering on revolt against the pro-Hapsburg tendencies of the Austrian government became noticeable today among members of the Fascist home guard.

Prince Ernst von Starhemberg's private army has been by no means whole-heartedly for an early restoration of the Hapsburg dynasty.

The Prussian Heimwehr leader, Albert Schober, has warned legitimists bluntly that they are disregarding red signal lights.

KANSAS CITY, July 11.—Residents of the United States middlewest looked in vain today for abatement of the heat wave which has claimed 35 lives.

CLEARING SKIES BRINGS HOPE IN FLOODED ZONES

But High Wind Whipping Waves Causes Alarm At Slave Lake

Clearing skies promised relief to flood-battered lands in the Lesser Slave Lake area Thursday. For the first time in four days, there was no rain in localities which have seen the steadily rising flood waters of the Lesser Slave, driven by wind and gales, encroach on farm lands, roads, railroads and buildings since recent rains commenced.

Slave Lake village, however, on the south-western end of Lesser Slave Lake, viewed with alarm a brisk west wind as villagers continued to move household effects to high ground. The lake is now 12 feet above normal in depth and it is expected that considerable time will elapse before a noticeable drop in levels is experienced.

Main line traffic of the Northern Alberta Railways from the north was halted at Widewater, two stations north of Lesser Slave village, Wednesday, by track conditions in the flood area.

A passenger train from McLennan and other northern points was held by rail officials at Widewater Wednesday and was still at the station Thursday, waiting for waters covering the track to subside. The train was scheduled to reach here at 8 o'clock Wednesday.

Wednesday's delay at Widewater marked the first time that main line traffic of the N.A.R. has been held up in the past week, most trouble occurring on branch lines.

Alberta Motor Association reported Thursday that roads in the Lesser Slave Lake area are in hopeless condition.

Only practicable and certain mode of communication with flooded areas is by airplane.

Restoration of principle ferry services on the Peace River highway was accomplished Thursday. Ferries were in use again at Smith, Slave Lake, Fairview, Grande Prairie and Fort St. John.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, July 11—Foreign Minister Peter Munch closed the doors today to Ethiopia's obtaining arms from Denmark.

SURPRISE DATE LIKELY SET TO COMBAT STEVENS

OTTAWA, Ont., July 11.—A surprise election as part of the Bennett strategy to combat the new Stevens party and go to the country before the insurgent ex-cabinet minister can get organized is now mooted on Capitol Hill, and a general election on Monday, August 26, is considered in the capital to be the prime minister's present intention.

It is known that Mr. Bennett was all set a few days ago to make his appointments, filling all the vacancies in the senate and the public service, and then announce his election date. The Stevens announcement, however, caused him to change his mind and the appointments must wait until the prime minister has looked over the situation and found who are the deserters from his party to the Stevens party.

The defection of some Conservative senators to the Stevens party, and the announcement of the former minister of trade and commerce that many members of the Conservative party are also listed with him has angered the prime minister and no party plums will go the way of the deserters. It was to safeguard against this that the appointments were held up and there is a possibility now of none being made until the appointees are definitely aligned with Mr. Bennett.

That the election announcement will come shortly is agreed on all sides, but with the change in the scene even Mr. Bennett's best friends say they do not know when it will be made. However, they believe that strategy will call for an early election and on good authority it is declared that the Monday, August 26, date is the one most prominently in Mr. Bennett's mind.

Hepburn Says Trek Is Puzzle

TORONTO, July 11.— Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn said today he would consult with Hon. T. B. McQuesten, minister of highways, and the acting attorney-general, to consider what action Ontario would take towards "hunger marchers" planning to march from Winnipeg to Ottawa.

Informed an advance guard of eight of the 600 men at Winnipeg had been escorted as far as the Ontario boundary by Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the premier said "If 600 of these fellows are going to be left on our doorstep it will be incumbent upon us to take some action."

Also he said, if Ontario unemployed do not take advantage of the Ontario government's plan whereby they can leave their municipalities and work on farms during the harvest, returning to relief rolls in the fall, they will lose the sympathy of the government and taxpayers of the province.

Pointing to the need for workers to harvest the province's bumper crop and recalling the planned "hunger march" to Ottawa, the Premier said: "Here these men are marching 400 miles to Ottawa to complain they can't get jobs and here these men are marching past farms where the operators can't get help."

Anomaly of the situation, said the Premier, was the government near winter would be buying food from the farmers for these men and the irony was the farmer would be taxed for the relief the government incurred in buying this food.

"From all over Ontario," he said, "the government is receiving urgent calls asking aid to get help for farmers."

HEROES FACE DEPORTATION

NEW YORK, N.Y., July 11.—Two young New Zealanders, members of the Byrd Antarctic expedition headquarters in the United States as heroes, may be deported as aliens unless agencies interested in their case can arrange for their passage home.

Cecil Meirose, 22, of Christchurch, and Francis W. Smoothy, 26, of Milton, joined the expedition at wages of one penny a month to see the world. They were discharged two weeks ago with $12 between them. The 60 days allowed them in this country has expired.

HOWSON GETS WELCOME AT TWO RALLIES

Thunder Storm Fails To Dampen Ardor Capacity Crowd

VILNA, Alta., July 11.—Rain flashing lightning and crashing thunder peals failed to dampen the political ardor of a large crowd which filled the town hall to capacity here Wednesday night. The meeting here was the day's second appearance for W. R. Howson, K.C., provincial Liberal leader, for during the afternoon, with J. H. McCallum, Federal Liberal candidate for Vegreville, and Andrew Shandro, Whitford constituency candidate, he spent more than three hours at a Smoky Lake rally.

Practically the entire male population of Smoky Lake attended the gathering, all speeches, with the exception of Mr. Howson's being in the Ukrainian tongue. Although a Scotch-Canadian, Mr. McCallum is proficient with the Ruthenian language, and he translated the Liberal leader's message for the benefit of all hearers.

At Vilna, where the big rally was held, Capt. H. H. Dakin, M.L.A.,

Winnipeg Strikers Still At Large

WINNIPEG, July 11.—The success of a march on Ottawa by an advance guard of Manitoba unemployed relief camp strikers today was stalled in the lake-dotted region that skirts the trans-Canada highway between Winnipeg and Port Arthur.

Travelling in passenger automobiles, 17 strikers under the leadership of Tony Evans, member of the executive strike committee, received an enthusiastic send-off last night from a group of 2,000 sympathizers who attended a mass meeting. The remainder of the 600 campers were held in the city.

Lyons Seeking New Canadian Trade Accord

OTTAWA, July 11.—A new trade agreement with Canada embodying additional features is desired by Australia, Prime Minister Joseph A. Lyons of that dominion, said today, in his conferences with Prime Minister R. B. Bennett here. He has been discussing proposals for a new treaty, although he declined to give any details. The matter will be pursued further at later conferences.

The Empire trade agreements negotiated in 1932 had proved satisfactory and had brought about an increase in trade Australia was anxious to achieve further increases and believed a revision of the present treaty in the light of experience would accomplish this. While it was true Canadian exports to Australia had increased more rapidly than Australian exports to Canada, Australia had no grievance and did not consider it had got the worst of the bargain.

Pousquet, as police described him, was arrested after a shooting affray in south London in which Miss Hilda Meek, a waitress, was fatally wounded. The girl's mother was rushed to hospital seriously wounded.

Lloydminster Gas Gusher Largest Well In Canada

LLOYDMINSTER, Alta., July 11.—The No. 1 well of the Colony Oil and Gas Co., located two miles south-east of Lloydminster, has turned out to be even greater than was expected by the most optimistic of the directors. At the official test taken by Stan Slipper of Calgary, whose findings are accepted by the Saskatchewan government, it proved to have a capacity of over 50,000,000 cubic feet per day, making it the largest gas well in the Dominion of Canada today.

At the first test the mercury was blown out of the tester, which in itself was an indication that a larger strike had been made.

Landlord Not Farmer Under New Relief Act

When is a farmer not a farmer? This was the question pondered by the Board of Review, appointed under the Farmer-Creditor Arrangement Act, under the chairmanship of Mr. Justice Ewing, that resumed sessions at the courthouse Thursday.

The board was hearing an application from the owner of 390 acres near Waskatenau, who had the land under lease to a farmer-in-law since 1930. The applicant himself operated a business in the town. There are debts totalling $9,715 against the property and equipment.

Counsel for the creditors raised the objection that the man is not a farmer within the meaning of the Act. Mr. Justice Ewing himself was inclined to this view.

His Lordship said: "I have a farm, rented, the operation of which has caused me yearly losses of late. Surely I would not be entitled to relief before this board and obtain relief."

The board thereupon refused to hear the application, holding that a landlord, renting property has lost right to possess the land.

Another application, a list of 50, were heard at the morning session Thursday.

Alberta Creameries Winners At Calgary

NORTH FLOODS HAMPER VOTE STATES REID

Minister Making Survey— Hopes for Early Announcement

"It is the purpose of the government to announce the date of the provincial general election as soon as flood conditions in the Peace River territory insure that we can fulfill provisions of the Election Act and hold the vote within the stipulated time," Premier R. G. Reid declared on Thursday.

Continuing, the premier declared that "all our information, from the chief electoral officer and, from other sources, is that it would be most difficult at present to carry on an election under existing circumstances and get enumeration done, ballot boxes distributed, and other necessary activities completed."

The premier stated that Hon. Hugh W. Allen, minister of lands and mines, had gone out last Thursday by train to make an investigation of the situation, but had been marooned between Widewater and Slave Lake, giving an indication of general conditions. An effort would be made to have him return here immediately for further conference as to what should be done. In the meantime the seventh legislature has been dissolved and there are no members of the house.

One former member on Thursday declared that his opinion was the government's action in not announcing the election before dissolution of the house, was illegal and that the government had no authority to carry on. This was substantiated by queries from constitutional law authorities. Others declare that there is reason to carry on, as supply has been voted and further supply would not have to be granted until April 1 next.

Belief in political circles is that the election will be brought on as soon as possible to the middle of August.

Fifty thousand holiday visitors watched spellbound as a second blast reduced the ledge, often called "Honeymoon Point," to a jagged ruin. The dynamiting was undertaken to guard against possible rock slides from a crack extending 200 feet along the table.

Streamlined Trains Prove Practical

Operation of stream-lined trains has proven practicable and profitable for the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railway Co., according to Leslie L. Trihey, travelling passenger agent of the road, who was in Edmonton on business Thursday.

Crack trains of the C. B. & Q. are the tourist Zephyrs, streamlined passenger Diesel type, running twice daily between St. Paul, Minneapolis and Chicago. Average speed of the trains is 66 miles per hour, cruising speed 90 miles per hour, and maximum rate 120 miles per hour. Each train now travels 582 miles per day.

Cutting ordinary operating costs 33 1-3 per cent, the Zephyr trains are able to supply extraordinary service at no added costs to passenger, states Mr. Trihey.

The line will shortly have four trains of the Zephyr type in operation.

on the platform which has been drafted.

Following his Toronto conferences Hon. Mr. Stevens will go to Montreal for conferences with his chief supporters there, and after a few days completing organization details in Ottawa he will launch out on his speaking tour.

From Ottawa Mr. Stevens will go westward, speaking at the principal centres on the way, crossing northern Ontario, the prairie provinces and so to British Columbia. He expects an early election.

Mr. Stevens' plan for reform and reconstruction will provide for immediate appointment, should his party obtain power, of a national committee of financial experts, to whom will be put the alternative of cleaning their own house and rehabilitating the financial system so that it will deal with emergencies like the present, or having government do it for them.

This reform of the financial system would not be anything as drastic as the Douglas, Aberhart or other schemes, nor even Mr. Stevens' own pet fetish of remonetization of silver, but will largely depend on what the national committee recommends.

PRECEDE ELECTION

This reform would precede any action with respect to trade, Mr. Stevens having held that the collapse of the financial structure in 1929 preceded the collapse of world trade and was not an outcome of the trade collapse. The first thing to be done, the new party will claim, is therefore to reconstruct the financial system.

Coincident with this the "if, as, and when" government would map out a works programme with both government and private enterprise. Work and wages would be promised the unemployed instead of relief camps.

Taking the stand that the less government in business the better, the national financial and reconstruction committee would be formed to also draw up a program of works which the financial institutions of the country would be prepared to finance, the government taking up slack, if any.

This program would deal with housing, replacement and repairs, and a speeding up and extension of the trans-Canada highway system and national parks road system.

Should the N.F.R.C. shy away from the task, the government will itself organize a great building and construction corporation, financing it with a great national loan for peace purposes instead of war, and then follow along the lines of the British system of housing, but financing contractors and others wherever they cannot get financing from ordinary sources.

TARIFF REFORM

The reform of tariff would be through a tariff board, and industries making undue profits under high tariffs would find themselves reduced to the letter as well as the spirit of the Imperial conference agreements, and not be allowed any more tariff protection but would permit a fair basis of competition with British and other imports. The "Hannah's Gallows" plan of certain favored industries will be wiped out.

Full implementation of the price spreads recommendations, by the Dominion where possible and by co-operation with provinces where necessary, will also be advocated in the new platform, the Stevens party holding that no relief has brought down by the Bennett government is wholly inadequate to deal with the situation and remedy the evils revealed.

Andorra, the tiny country lying in the Pyrenees between France and Spain, has no army, no police, no postage stamps, no coins, no newspapers, and no railroads.

W. R. HOWSON ADDRESSES 2 LARGE MEETS

joined the party so that the speakers' platform was well filled. Mr. Howson was given a warm reception.

The Aberhart Social Credit proposals were discussed by all speakers. It was suggested by Mr. Howson that the so-called "cultural heritage" might be to much better advantage applied to the retiring from active life of those workers well along in years whose toil entitled them to spend lives gloaming in rest and peace. This, said the Liberal chief, would do much to remove from the workaday world those who could use and enjoy a basic dividend and would thus be a great factor in solving the problem of idle youth for vacancies would have to be filled and idle ambitious youth stood waiting for opportunity.

SWING INTO LINE

Mr. McCallum confined his speech largely to federal affairs but urged Vilna people to swing into line behind provincial Liberal candidates if they seek the changes meeting community needs. Capt. Dakin and Andrew Shandro also spoke upon provincial issues.

The Smoky Lake folks take their politics seriously for the question period was prolonged and demonstrated that the audience was seeking facts rather than platitudes. It was conceded by local authorities that Smoky Lake is one Alberta spot where Social Credit has failed to click sufficiently to be taken seriously.

Platform references to the Aberhart scheme brought general laughter for there are not many basic incomes in existence in the community. It is regarded likely, however, that a Communist candidate will make a showing.

SPEAKS TO YOUNG PEOPLE

To the young folks attending the meeting Mr. Howson addressed himself particularly. He reminded them that their parents and grandparents, coming largely from other lands, struggled to hew out farms and create homes and that during the last five years conditions have become so serious that an absolute change of government and conditions is necessary. He urged the young folks to turn deaf ears to efforts to divide into groups such as U.F.A., Socialism, Communism and Aberhartism.

With the hosts of Canada strongly Liberal, Alberta must of necessity join the parade for her own protection in that her undivided people join Canada in a mass march to recovery and progress. The Liberal policies represent the cry of all the people and are directed solely toward best serving the most people in the most practical way, he said.

A passing freight train, Edmonton bound, was rushed by Mr. Howson near Smoky Lake. On top of each car were twelve young men heating their way to town. "We don't want our boys to be tramps and they must be done in these days when Liberal governments were looking after their welfare", said Mr. Howson.

DUTY OF YOUTH

It was the duty of youth in the present national crisis to take an active stand and play a dutiful part toward debt loaded parents and chaotic industrial conditions, by bringing about a complete electoral change in the province and Dominion. Only in this way can a present day youth pay its due to parents, country and itself.

He told the young folks of city conditions where thousands who should normally be wage earners for two or three years past never had an opportunity for a day's work or a chance to earn a dollar. Such a condition was a grave reflection upon Canada's national life and systems and only by the revolt of youth itself could the remedy be properly applied.

MOUNTING PUBLIC DEBT

On provincial issues Mr. Howson pointed from legislative records the ever mounting public debt incurred, the refusal to concur in a bond interest guarantee measure and the needs for a practical monetary reform brand of social credit. He urged that the U.F.A. government be judged fairly and squarely upon their record which would ensure its defeat by an irate electorate.

HEAT WAVE BLAMED FOR NAKED HIKER

WELLAND, Ont., July 11.—The heat wave is blamed for the extraordinary actions of a young man here. When Provincial Constable Allen saw a naked young man walking along the highway, he first thought sudden fad spread to hitch-hikers. The nude man told him "he had been ordered by the sun supreme being to remove his clothes."

The young man was taken in charge by his parents after he was brought to Welland police station.

MOSCOW, July 11—The Communist party newspaper Pravda on Wednesday accused the Japanese of provoking incidents on the Mongolian-Manchukuoan border in order to prepare the way for Japanese occupation of Mongolia.

This is the same looting and aggressive policy the Japanese militarists have been carrying on ever since the occupation of Manchuria", the paper said.

160 SNAKES IN ONE DAY PETE'S MARK

CALGARY, July 11—Bob "Rattlesnake Pete" Dixon, pioneer south country cowboy, who was "death to snakes" in the early days, is here meeting the boys of the range during stampede week.

"Rattlesnake Pete" had his own special way of clearing the country of rattlesnakes. He would flick his long stock whip, to enrage them; then approach close enough to throw a long silk bandana over them. When they caught the handkerchief in their mouths a violent wrench pulled forth the poisonous fangs, rendering them harmless to pick up. His high score was 160 snakes in one day, all caught by the handkerchief method.

Gay Paree's Judge Rules Nudies Okay

PARIS, July 11.—The presiding judge admitted it took more than mere nudity to shock him as Joan Warner, United States dancer who maintains clothes hamper her art, went on trial here today on charges of offending Paris' morals.

A gallery of notables rallied to defend Miss Warner's contention that nudeness is not necessarily naughty. The painter, Maurice Devlaminck, said "mere nakedness" failed to shock him.

"Well Monsieur Devlaminck," the judge put in, "it doesn't shock me either."

The judge indicated he approved the morality of Joan's act. The court will render its decision probably next week.

RELIEF CAMP STRIKE IS NOT OVER, CLAIMED

Official of Workers' Union Predicts Greater Offensive

VANCOUVER, July 11—The British Columbia relief camp strike is not over and the men are returning to camps only so they may organize for a greater offensive against the slave camps." Eric Cumber, secretary of the Relief Camp Workers' union, declared last night.

Cumber made his statement at a mass meeting called originally for the announced purpose of informing Vancouver citizens of the "Strikers' side of the Regina riot," but which developed into orations by speakers on the local relief situation, the longshore trouble, the Regina riot and "class struggle."

The men, 600 of whom returned from Regina Sunday, are going back to camps for a needed rest to prepare to increase their organization, Cumber said. About 395 men have already been provided with transportation by various groups.

Other speakers included Ivan Emory, longshore leader, and Malcolm Bruce, Communist leader.

Neither League of Nations Nor Italy Likely to Act Before November—How Bargain Made.

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Bulletin Staff Foreign Writer

PARIS, July 11.—On July 3 it started to rain in Abyssinia. Rain on the equator is not something that can be compared with a London drizzle, even a persistent one. For the better part of four months, till the end of September in fact, Abyssinia is smothered under an antediluvian downpour, an uninterrupted succession of cloud - bursts, you might say.

Pierre Van Paassen

Billions of tons of water come down. Travel of any kind is out of the question for even the railway lines become hazardous during the rainy season. Nearly every year whole sections of it are simply washed away. From June till October we hope for short intervals of clear weather, the landscape is wrapped in a blanket of steam such as prevailed over this whole earth before man made his appearance.

By hard bargaining and some firm language the honor and prestige of the League of Nations was saved and is safe so long as the rains come down in Abyssinia. After the great test may come. Mussolini has refused to accept a definite statement that Italy will use no force in the Abyssinian dispute beyond the period set aside for arbitration. This period expires a few weeks before the rain stops. In the meantime heavy shipments of troops and war material continue to leave Italian ports. If the arbitration commission could show on August 23 that an agreement has been reached in the Italo-Abyssinian dispute, the whole world will heave a sigh of relief. But the arbitration commission has begun by wasting its time in future disputes and bickerings in Milan and now has adjourned for a month with a plan to reassemble once again in July in Holland.

ITALY WANTS ABYSSINIA

So far nothing is settled. Everything has been postponed until the end of the rainy season. In the meantime unofficial agencies are trying to learn what Italy really wants, with how much Mussolini will be satisfied; for it is obvious by now that Italy's claims that are not quarrelling over a frontier incident and that the whole matter cannot be settled by the payment of a monetary indemnity by Abyssinia.

To the outside world Mussolini speaks of security for the Italian colonies bordering on Abyssinia. These colonies are in constant danger of an Abyssinian attack according to the Duce. That's diplomatic language which deceives nobody. Italy wants Abyssinia. That's the simple truth, stripped of all verbiage. Whether Abyssinia is to become a market for Italian industry, or a place of settlement for millions of South Italian farmers, or whether Mussolini merely wants to heighten his prestige in the world by taking unto himself the title of conquering Caesar, does not matter a great deal. Italy wants Abyssinia.

WOULD GIVE LIVING BODY TO SCIENCE

DETROIT, July 11.—Merton Ward Goodrich, confessed slayer of 11-year-old Lillian Gallaher, informed his attorney Wednesday he wanted to submit himself to science "as a human guinea pig."

After leaving the courtroom yesterday, where he had pleaded not guilty, he sent a pencilled note to Harry C. Hanley, named by the court as his defender:

"I realize this is the most horrible crime that has ever been known," said the note. "While I am innocent it was not me that did it, but the other side of my life, I would like to dedicate my living body to science.

"I realize much can be learned by study after death, but I believe still more could be learned by submitting myself as a human guinea pig to science for any experiment they may wish to make.

"I have no thought of gain other than to see some other young man as unfortunate as myself saved from a fate such as mine."

Nation League Special Session Will Be Called

GENEVA, July 11. — League of Nations circles said today a special council session probably will be called within three weeks as a result of Ethiopia's urgent appeal for action in its controversy with Italy.

The session was regarded as of major importance, both as to the future of the league and of Europe, because of its possible repercussions.

As early as 1910, Ralph DePalma used independently sprung wheels on one of his racing machines.

5,000 CHINESE TROOPS REVOLT

PEIPING, July 11.—Five thousand men of the 21st Chinese army revolted today in Neikiang against submission by its general to the Nanking government. The general in command, Wi-Fu-Shien, committed suicide.

Traffic between Cheng-Tu and Chungking, in the province of Szechuen, scene of the recent conflict between the Chinese generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and Communist troops, was suspended completely as a result of the revolt.

The soldiers mutinied not only against Nanking control, but also against any reduction of forces in Szechuan province.

In the period July 1 to July 6 Fairview has had the greatest volume of rain, with 1.66 inches.

Vegreville runs in second place with 1.38 inches and Hanna in third place with 1.26 inches.

This city has had .88 inches in the same period and Calgary has had .56 inches. Red Deer has had less than previously, with .06 inches recorded.

The four were charged with unlawfully causing a disturbance, of impeding peaceful passengers and of being vagrants on a public highway.

ITALY SEEKS CONTROL OVER BORDER AREAS

Price For Which War Plans Against Ethiopia Will be Dropped

LONDON, July 11—Italy demands complete control over the border regions of Ethiopia and a zone of political and trade influence in the interior as the only price for which Italian war plans will be dropped, Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador here, was reported Wednesday to have told the government.

No confirmation of the reports was forthcoming, however.

The House of Commons and the cabinet considered the Ethiopian crisis at their meetings and Anthony Eden, minister for League of Nations affairs, reiterated before the commons the government's determination to do all it could to prevent an Italo-Ethiopian war.

Italy Charges New Hostile Incidents

ROME, July 11.—Italy charged Ethiopia with two new hostile incidents in their bitter dispute last night shortly after Benito Mussolini called into council 120 generals and other high officers of his army.

An official communique said Ethiopians were guilty of anti-Italian offenses July 6 at Harrar, Ethiopia. A protest has been sent to Addis Ababa.

Official spokemen hastened to assure questioners the new incidents, although demonstrative of the increasing intolerable Ethiopian influence," would not necessarily furnish the spark to set off a war.

Regina Fireman Is Dismissed On Rioting Charge

REGINA, July 11. — William Wilkes, middle-aged Regina fireman, Wednesday in city police court was dismissed on a charge of inciting to riot.

Wilkes was wearing a fire department uniform when he was arrested on market square on the night of Dominion Day riots. Witnesses said he used inflammatory remarks about the police but it was held nothing he said resulted in actual rioting.

Out of 15 strikers and citizens to appear in court on charges of inciting charges on Tuesday and Wednesday, Wilkes was the only man to win dismissal. Others were variously been dismissed on vagrancy charges.

Of the 15, one man has drawn suspended sentence and 13 others have been committed for trial.

The flight was made from the Rome military testing field. Marquese Negrone reported that the temperature at the apex of her climb was 32 degrees below zero.

MILLAR INQUEST ON AT REGINA

REGINA, July 11.—Third day hearing of Regina riot cases was reached today with scant hope of clearing up a docket of 48 names before end of the week.

Inquest into the death of Charles Millar, city detective slain in Market Square rioting on Dominion Day night, will be held tonight.

On Tuesday and Wednesday 15 cases were dealt with, one man getting dismissal. Thirteen others were committed for trial by jury in September. Another got suspended sentence. These cases were in addition to vagrancy charges dismissed last week.

Adjourned hearing of charges against Arthur Evans, John Cegrave and George Black, strike leaders, is scheduled for Friday in Mounted Police court. These three are charged with being officers of an unlawful assembly.

SENATORS ADD MANY OTHERS TO BE NAMED

More Than 40 Important Posts Will be Filled By Bennett

OTTAWA, July 11.—Progress has been made at this week's daily cabinet council meetings in the selection of those who will occupy the numerous positions which the government has to fill before dissolution. It is anticipated several of the 17 senate vacancies will have been filled at the end of this week, as well as some of the departmental vacancies.

More than 40 important appointments, including senators, have been allowed to accumulate. These include new positions created by legislation passed at the session of parliament just ended, and in addition to the high executive positions there will be scores of lesser officials and personnel required.

High salaried appointments available include the chairmanship of the board of railway commissioners, vacant for more than a year; a vacancy on the bench of the supreme court of Canada, Dominion archivist, all drawing $12,000 yearly; chairman and two members of the new Canadian wheat board, chairman and two members of the unemployment and social insurance commission, public prosecutor under the Dominion trade and industry commission, all in the higher salary brackets.

GET THE WORK DONE

The city council spent Monday evening talking about relief work, but apparently ended without doing anything to get work started on the scenic drive to the Highlands or on building the fence around the Stadium; two projects which have been on the agenda for execution since spring.

Undoubtedly there are a good many angles to the relief-work problem, and it is very desirable to proceed on right lines. But almost any plan or scheme under which work is done is better than leaving it undone while paying out relief money.

If council has not yet exhausted all the debateable possibilities of the subject, it would be better to start work on these and other available projects, and continue the discussion afterward. Nobody will be benefitted if council talks about the matter all summer while worth while improvements are left unmade.

THIS SHOULD BE THE LAST

It is good news that the Provincial Government is sending an engineer to study the Slave river, and find out what should be done to make that stream fulfil its function of draining the water out of Lesser Slave Lake fast enough to prevent the surrounding country being flooded.

Actual operations to clear the outlet are probably hopeless while the flood condition lasts, but this ought to be the last of all possible times to assess the damage that is sure to be done unless the channel is deepened and kept clear in future years.

Dredging will of course cost money, and probably a large amount of money. But the flood is also costing a lot of money, to the residents of the flooded communities and the railway. And, whatever the expense, the work will have to be done. It will not do to invite a repetition of the present situation whenever an exceptionally wet summer comes along. Once is enough.

FROM DROUGHT TO FLOOD

Last year it was drought; this year floods. In China, the south central States, and the Canadian west, the contrast holds. If we have come to the end of a dry cycle, the change appears to be general, and very pronounced, over a great part of the northern hemisphere.

Immediately there isn't anything that can be done about it, and so far as this continent is concerned the change is for the better; even too much rain is better than drought. The water courses and lakes and subsoil of the great central plain were far short of the normal supply of water. A few more dry years would have made a large part of that area a desert.

It would help in regularize matters, and make for the general security and well-being, if the meteorologists of this continent could get together in a broad and concentrated study of weather records, with a view to being able to predict when dry periods may be expected and when a series of wet years are to be looked for.

No doubt there is some wide periodical variation in weather conditions, corresponding to the ebb and flow of the tides, and the recurrence of winter and summer. It would help in many ways if the duration of these "swings" could be determined and the coming of wet and dry "spells" foretold with reasonable accuracy.

LONDON DOESN'T BELIEVE IT

The first accomplishment of Canada's new Grain Board "orderly marketing" act has been to throw the London market into a state of complete disorder, with all holders and countries trying to sell wheat and the millers afraid to buy lest the price keep on going down.

What precipitated the collapse was London's refusal to accept at face value the recent assurances from Ottawa that there is no intention of "dumping" the 226,000,000 bushels accumulated in recent years on Government account.

Old country milling interests do not put much faith in that. They suspect Ottawa is trying to deceive them, or is deceiving itself, and that it will sell either of choice or of necessity for what can be got. London papers point out by justifying the suspicion that while wheat is pegged at Winnipeg at 80 cents it is only worth 40 cents at London. They just can't believe Ottawa will hold indefinitely in those circumstances.

But that is because they do not understand the fine points of the holding policy. Plainly stated, Ottawa is hoping, and has been hoping for years, that a crop failure will strike one of the great wheat growing countries—other than Canada—one of these times and enable it to unload at a profit.

That may be a crude way of putting it, but the idea itself is crude, and entirely orthodox. If the London dealers ask him, Mr. Montague Norman of the Bank of England will be able to expain to them in the properly polished language of "regular" economic authorities. It is all part of the "dog eat dog" brand of political economy on which world business is being run at present.

That Ottawa has any intention of "dumping" is not at all likely. It still has faith that nature will some time oblige by sending drought or floods to wipe out the crops of some other country and let it cash in on the disaster. Nature once let Joseph out of a corner in that way in the early days in Egypt, and surely it won't go back on the modern hoarders.

The congregation of the Presbyterian church at a meeting Monday evening decided to open a mission on Sutherland street between Queen's avenue and McDougall avenue.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

London: Lord Kitchener, Secretary for War, addressed a great meeting at the Guild Hall. The following extract from his speech indicates the critical situation and the need for more men: "It is not for me to tell you your duty: that is a matter for your conscience; but make up your minds and do it quickly. It has been well said that in every man's life there is one supreme hour to which all his earlier experiences move, and from which all future results may be reckoned. For every individual Briton as well as for our allies that hour is now striking. Let us take heed to the great opportunity it offers, and which most assuredly we must grasp now and at once or never. Let each man of us see that we spare nothing, shirk nothing, and shrink from nothing, if only we may lend our full weight to the impetus which shall carry us victory our honor and freedom."

London: Albert Thomas, French under secretary for war, after a visit to England declares he is now convinced British industry is so organized that it can supply munitions in unlimited quantity to the allies.

Pretoria: General Botha, commander of the forces of the Union of South Africa, has accepted the surrender of all German military forces in Southwest Africa. The surrender was unconditional, in response to an ultimatum.

Poems That Live

JULY

When the bubble moon is young,
Down the sources of the breeze,
Like a yellow lantern hung
In the tops of blackened trees,
There is promise she will grow
Into beauty unforetold,
Into all unthought-of gold.
Heigh ho!

When the Spring has dipped her foot,
Like a bather, in the air,
And the ripple warns the root
Till the little flowers dare,
There is promise she will grow
Sweeter than the Springs of old,
Fairer than was ever told,
Heigh ho!

But the moon of middle night,
Risen, is the rounded moon;
And the Spring of budding light
Eddies into just a June,
Ah, a promise—was it not?
Nay, that was fairy gold;
All the new is over-old.
Heigh ho!

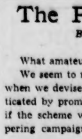

—Harrison Smith Morris.

Latest statistics show that at the end of last year, the United States held 39.7 per cent of the world's gold; France 25 per cent; England, 7.3 per cent; the rest of Europe, 21.6 per cent, and the rest of the world, 6.2 per cent. Very little difference had taken place last year from the year before. The United States had increased its stock of gold by about 4 per cent. The "rest of Europe" had dwindled by only 3 per cent. England had 7.8 per cent in 1933 and 7.3 per cent in 1934. It will be seen from these figures that the United States and France control the major portion of the world's gold supply. But what good is it doing them?—Victoria Times.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

What amateurs we are at politics in Alberta. We seem to reach the limit of our endeavors when we devise a scheme to lure the unsophisticated by promising voters $25 a month apiece if the scheme will work, or in starting "whispering campaigns" to fool the suckers.

J. S. Cowper

If you want to know how to run politics on the grand scale read "Portraits in City Politics" by J. T. Salter.

The author is a professor of political science in the University of Wisconsin. You usually think of a professor of political science as a learned recluse who talks like Major Douglas, and needs an interpreter to explain himself. Prof. Salter is not that kind of a professor. He wanted to get close to the realisms of civic politics in American cities, so he temporarily vacated his chair in the University and lived for fifteen months with the political "underlings of the Vare machine in Philadelphia. What he found there is typical of conditions in a dozen great American cities.

Telling of how 85 per cent of all the committeemen were on the civic payroll, Prof. Salter says that fitness for a job is quite unimportant. The requisites are geniality, plus ability to deliver the vote, plus the absence of front-page scandal. With that, any man is eligible for the job. In New York he found a $6250 a year Commissioner of Records who couldn't read his own name. Secretaries to Justices of the City Court were sent up from stevedoring jobs.

"Political success," he says, "revolves around these simplest fellow-creature wants: jobs, food, justice—tempered with mercy or favoritism—and taxes, since the power to tax involves the power to destroy."

Appeals to the high purposes of efficient government and honest administration are entirely nebulous. The successful politician is not interested in ultimate social or political goals; to him "politics is a science of the possible."

o o o

Here is an interesting illustration of the "fixing" methods of a ward leader. A friendly truck driver had run down and killed an iceman, and appealed to the ward leader to "fix" the case for him. The evidence was doctored and the case dismissed by the coroner for a total expenditure, aside from the funeral expenses, of only $60. This is how the $60 was distributed:

Detective Craig	$10.00
Tinke and Company (2 motor cycle policemen)	20.00
Tim C., a deputy coroner-investigator, told the coroner the death was accidental, etc.	15.00
Ditto later	5.00
Ditto later, another	5.00
Irish sergeant at Forty-third and Tuppen streets. (He was nice to us—gave us the records. Told us whom we could fix, etc.)	5.00

Because the political machine in American cities dovetails into the industrial machine—the business man contributing to the support of the political machine in return for favors—Professor Salter thinks that an economic catastrophe would be the surest way to smash the political machine.

Not cheerful logic is it?

In France and other countries there used to appear a star turn on the vaudeville stage "The Man With the Wonderful Brain." Pierre Lutece was his name. He claimed to be able to answer any question about events of the past, or to read any chapter of the Old or New Testaments backwards from memory.

His success attracted the attention of specialists all over the world. In the belief that his brain would reveal some secret that might lead to the better understanding of mental problems, famous hospitals in Paris and Berlin entered into a contract with Lutece, whereby after death, his brain was to be surrendered to them in return for a pension to his widow.

Lutece died a few weeks ago—died in poor circumstances—and the Paris hospitals claimed his head, only to find that he had entered into similar contracts with 53 other institutions in various parts of the world. From most of them he had obtained large sums in advance amounting to thousands of pounds. In view of the many countries which have entered claims, the French courts are sending the dispute to the League of Nations.

How much better if the Man with the Wonderful Brain had read the Bible forwards instead of backwards, and assimilated its moral teachings.

There are some kind hearts still beating. Recently, the bulletin told the story of a former flyer, who had been compelled to accept delivery work in town. After making a first payment on a bicycle, to assist him in his work, he had the misfortune to lose his bicycle to a thief. It was a veritable tragedy to him.

The story was told in the hope that the thief might soften his heart and find some way to return the machine to a man whose sole livelihood depended on it. Either he didn't see the article or his heart was proof against remorse. But a well-known citizen, who refuses to have his name disclosed, saw to it that the deserving loser was furnished with another bicycle.

How pleasant to balance the mean act with the other act of kindness.

Here's good news for all those who dread the dental chair, and the feel of those gigantic grindstones that nearly raise the roof from your head—and which shrink to mere pinpoints when the dentist withdraws them.

A new dental chair has been devised which changes all the torture of tooth-drilling into pleasure. When your head is tipped back in the chair, it contacts two plates fixed in the headrest. They are sound conduction plates, attached by wires to a phonograph in another room.

No sound is audible to the ears. But when the head touches the plates the music is transmitted through the bones. Originally designed to enable the deaf to hear music through the bones of the skull, the idea has proved equally effective in the dental chair. The sweet sounds of the music drown out the noise of the drill and attract attention away from the operator.

Even a crooner would be preferable to the noise of a tooth drill.

Fruits Valuable In Diet

By DOCTOR FRANK McCOY

In a botanical sense, all seeds, such as the grains, all beans and nuts, as well as the squashes, are considered "fruits," but common usage has narrowly defined them. The word fruits give us a mental picture of a much smaller group.

Dr. F. McCoy

For the sake of a clearer classification, we now arrange the fruits into the two main divisions, namely: the acid fruits, such as peaches, apples, pears, berries, etc., and the sweet fruits, such as prunes, figs, dates, and raisins. The acid fruits are in season chiefly during the summer months and containing, as they do, the valuable acids, vitamins and the food minerals, so necessary to the body, they should by all means be considered a very important part of our diet.

In considering fruit in its relationship to health, it is necessary to remember that practically none of the foods we use today grow naturally in an abundant edible state. In their wild state neither fruits nor vegetables make a palatable nor nutritious diet. They have all been developed to their present state by intensive cultivation and man has been master over nature inasmuch as he has learned to follow nature's laws in this cultivation to produce a food of greater value to the human race. All fruits developed in this way have proven a valuable addition to the diet.

Great care should be used in selecting fruit to make sure that it is thoroughly ripened. Green fruit contains too great an amount of acid, while over-ripe fruit ferments too easily. Modern methods of transportation and refrigeration have made it possible to deliver to the consumer fruit which is at the peak of perfect ripeness. I suggest that the best time to use fruit is while it is in season and I advise that you use all you possibly can when fruit is most plentiful.

There is a fruit rule which will be well for you to remember, for there is no magical property in fruit which makes it possible to use it indiscriminately with other foods; indeed, the contrary is often true, so much so that the utmost care must be exercised in combining fruit with other foods. Now for the rule. It is this: ONE ACID OR STEWED FRUIT MAY BE USED AS A MEAL BY ITSELF, OR IN COMBINATION WITH EITHER MILK, CHEESE, NUTS, OR ONE KIND OF PROTEIN; OR IN COMBINATION WITH COOKED NON-STARCHY VEGETABLES AND RAW SALAD VEGETABLES. NEITHER ACID NOR STEWED FRUIT SHOULD EVER BE USED WITH STARCHY FOODS.

One of the common questions concerning fruit deals with fruit in relationship to acidosis. I find that many patients avoid the acid fruits, such as oranges, because they feel that since they have developed acidosis, the fruit would make matters worse. I have found it necessary to explain away the common belief that acid fruits have a direct result in producing acidosis.

From my laboratory experience and years of experimentation with patients how to correct acidosis, I am convinced that there is not the slightest excuse for believing that acid fruits have any effect whatsoever in creating acidosis. Instead of fruits causing acidosis they are one of the best foods to use in correcting it, since the fruits have an alkaline reaction in the body. When eaten, fruit is acid, but the ash which remains after the fruit is burned in the body, is an alkaline ash. I therefore advise that instead of avoiding acid fruits, the patient with acidosis use more of them. I wish to emphasize the fact that acid fruits offer one of the most rapid and satisfactory ways of overcoming that type of acidosis due to eating too many of the foods leaving an acid ash. If you have developed acidosis, the most sensible plan is to start the treatment by using a five-day fast on fruit juices.

For those desiring additional information, I have prepared various articles. I suggest that you send for them, enclosing one large, self-addressed envelope and ten cents and request any article desired. Some of the articles are: FRUIT BEFORE BED-TIME . . .; USE OF ACID FRUITS . .; ACID ALKALINE BALANCE (TELLING WHICH FOODS ARE ALKALINE FORMING . .; DO ACID FRUITS CAUSE ACIDOSIS?

Horoscope

By MARY BLAKE

On July 12 conditions, conducive to arousing the spirit of cupidity in people of a naturally grasping disposition, makes it advisable for you to be on your guard, should you be thrown into close contact with them. Penurious practices in business probably will prove to be a grave mistake. Do not attend any social gathering unless you feel that you can freely enter into the spirit of good fellowship. Married and engaged couples, and those whose hearts are fluttering with emotions of love, will show wisdom if they display only good humored toleration, should they be subjected to any form of tantalization on this date.

If a woman and July 12 is your birthday, your greatest gift is probably the ability to make yourself attractive. You possess a tremendous amount of personal magnetism. You are perhaps unusually well qualified to play the part of hostess. Married life should have many attractions for you, and bring much joy.

The child born on July 12 may, when it reaches its teens, disclose genius for some highly specialized artistic line of activity.

If a man and July 12 is your natal day, you are very ambitious. You love to think mostly in big figures, and plan in a big way.

SIDE GLANCES — By George Clark

"Why pay $12 a day to stay here, if you can't stay awake and enjoy it?"

On This Date

A Day in Canadian History —o— By FRED WILLIAMS

On this date in 1913, New Brunswick mourned the death the previous night of Hon. John Valentine Ellis, one of the colorful figures in that province's public life for many years.

He founded The Saint John's Globe and made it a great power in the dissemination of Liberal doctrines and in inculcating the principles of morality in public and private life. He was elected to the House of Commons for Saint John in 1887 defeating F. E. Barker (afterwards Sir Frederick, chief justice) by 213 majority. Mr. Ellis was defeated in 1891 but came back in 1896, winning the seat for Laurier by 722 majority. He then gave way for Hon. A. G. Blair, and was appointed to the Senate, September 3, 1900. Mr. Ellis was a powerful speaker in the House of Commons and in his later years was distinguished by a long white beard which made him noticeable in any crowd.

A vivid personality in journalism, he was vigorous, aggressive, but seldom abusive and refrained the friendship of many political foes despite the heat of New Brunswick politics. When J. V. Ellis died, the soul of The Globe died too. An attempt was made to continue its publication, but it lacked the magnetic power of its founder-editor and, like the Acadian Recorder when C. C. Blackadder died, it simply died. Both papers were long missed in their particular field. The newspaper fraternity of Canada are very proud of the honorable record of John Valentine Ellis.

The Mail Bag

THE REGINA RIOT

Editor, Bulletin: The following letter was inspired by a Journal editorial, and for reasons unknown to myself, the Journal refuses publication:

"Sir: I agree with the Journal statement that the law and constituted authority must be upheld, provided you are referring to just laws and properly constituted authority. I also agree that haphazard fixing of responsibility should be avoided, but personally, I must be influenced by the statement of Premier Gardiner which appeared in your columns, to the effect that police interference with the mass meeting precipitated the clash.

"As far as the law is concerned, it is quite clear that the law which brands the relief camp workers' union as an unlawful organization is an unjust law. As far as constituted authority is concerned, I am of the opinion that Mr. Bennett does not represent it, as he obtained power by fraud, and without being unduly prejudiced against Mr. Bennett, I feel that the responsibility for the loss of life and bloodshed rests almost entirely on his shoulders. The Saskatchewan government is not altogether free from blame.

"The law-abiding citizens to whom Mr. Bennett appealed a week ago should remember that it is a mere acceptance of conditions as they have existed for the past five years is implied in Mr. Bennett's idea of a law-abiding citizen, and in view of the fact that the Communist bogey has been raised, law abiding citizens should consider very carefully the strikers' demands for they constitute Communism.

"In brief they are as follows: Work and wages; the right to vote; first aid equipment; workmen's compensation; organization of camp committees and removal of military control; a six-hour day and five-day week, and unemployment insurance (I believe non-contributory).

"These demands are supposed to be communistic, and yet, with the exception of unemployment insurance, they are rights and conditions which are enjoyed by all workers throughout Canada.

"Now, if British justice means anything at all, it is up to every law-abiding citizen who happens to have a job to put this question to themselves: Why are these rights and conditions which I enjoy denied to the relief camp workers?

"I must correct that statement re the six-hour day, as far as I know it is non-existent as yet, but the five-day week is in operation in certain departments of the railways, and even among our own civic employees."

TECHNOCRACY

Editor, Bulletin: The individuals to whom this letter is addressed are considered as likely to be in a strategic position to do some clear thinking on our critical national problems and to arrive at conclusions based on their own informed judgment.

On the radio and in the press men of national reputation, some wise and some unwise, have agreed at least on the basic fact that in a land with plenty for all we find millions in want. Further, they agree that the distribution system is not working properly as not enough people have purchasing power (which means jobs) to buy the goods produced. Starting from these premises, then, there have been offered to the American people a variety of plans to prevent the economic disaster towards which we were precipitating. Every person in this country, and actually every person on this continent, will be forced to choose one or another of the solutions offered and be active in its behalf or else be justly labelled as one of the many hopeful drifters who had not the strength of character to fight for what he believed would result in the orderly preservation of life and happiness in his own country.

Technocracy, Inc., is offering to the people of this continent the blue prints of a complete plan to bring order from impending chaos. The plan is scientific and designed to meet the requirements of what MUST BE done; it has, of necessity, no regard for personal likes or dislikes. Because technological improvements and the harnessing of vast quantities of extraneous energy cannot work under a price system and at the same time supply their actual potential abundance of goods for everyone, it becomes increasingly evident to more and more people that the price-system must go. The reaching of this decision by enough people in the near future will be all that can save us from industrial and political chaos of disastrous proportions.

We will promise you this, that decision will have to be made by every individual on this continent before very much more time passes.

If Technocracy, Inc. is wrong, we will soon be forgotten. If we are right, we will need you and many other fellow citizens to aid in making the orderly change to the "New America of Abundance for All."

A Scotchman had been presented with a pint flask of rare old Scotch whiskey. He was walking briskly along the road toward his home, when along came a Ford which he did not sidestep quite in time. It threw him down and hurt his leg badly. He got up and limped down the road. Suddenly he noticed that something warm and wet was trickling down his leg.

"Oh, Lord!" he groaned, "I hope that's blood!"

"Give me a sentence using the word 'health.'"

"Where in the 'health' my pipe?"

Mothers, Babes Unhurt; 600 Other Women Buried As Result Quetta Quake

Patients in Quetta Hospital Miraculously Escaped Earthquake

By GORDON SINCLAIR
Bulletin's Roaring Reporter

KARACHI, India, July 11.—If ever a man feels like moralizing on the blast that wiped Baluchistan's beautiful capital off the map of middle Asia, he has a well jumping-off point in the women.

There were the new and expectant mothers, for instance. The average Indian woman shudders and pales at the very thought of having her baby in a hospital.

The idea is ridiculously extravagant to start with, and there are men present. Some women even have doctors! Your own mother isn't even allowed to help and if you feel the need of the spiritual aid of a physician, nurses won't even let one in the place.

Gordon Sinclair

Enlightened women are getting away from these medieval fantasies. They are sending off to hospitals in increasing numbers, but any having male doctors? There were 49 mothers with new and roly poly babies in Lady Dufferin hospital at Quetta when the town turned a commersault and every last one of them was saved. Not a mother and not a baby perished.

Down the road further were the prostitutes of "Chip Street." (A chip is a rupee or 4 cents, the usual charge for such a woman.) There were about 600 of these in the district's backlands. Of the 600, so far as has been learned, not one solitary woman escaped. All were buried alive in their houses of easy virtue.

Their houses fell right into the ground and were buried so deeply under other houses that hardly a woman has been dug up yet. These will be among the salvage parties when the time comes to bring them to light again, because the Indian harem is practically a walking silver mine.

I remember, when I was in Quetta two years ago, watching these Chip street gals as they walked the streets, proud of their profession and flaunting layer after layer of bangles on their ankles, rope after rope of silver about their necks and whole sleeves of silver around their arms.

WENT STARK MAD

At times, when the big rug caravans would from Persia and both cash and wine flowed freely in the bazaars, these Chip St. gals were sloed on the block and their charms auctioned off for limited periods.

Then there were the zenana women. In India they hate to call a place where a rich man keeps his several dozen assorted wives, a harem. That's Turkish, they say, or maybe Arabian. Anyway, it is not Indian, and it is not accurate, because it conjures up a picture of hundreds of girls in lacey veils surrounded by fubby eunuchs and the heavy odor of incense, waiting the command of their lord and master.

In India it's a Zenana, and its only connection with a harem is that two of his wives stay there. So do all the children, and the place is kept strictly private from the outside world. Women are not allowed to leave the Zenana unless heavily veiled and guarded. There are no eunuchs and none of this scented air of fragrant incense.

Well, anyhow, harem or zenana, whatever it is, and with or without eunuchs, a startling proportion of Quetta's zenana women went stark, staring mad in the earthquake.

I saw a few of these myself, shrieking and roaring about what had once been streets. The only way doctors could quiet them down at all was to give them a hypo shot in the arm, big enough to quiet a mule; and even then they twitched like a bear on a hook.

Never having made a decision or faced a problem of their own in all their lives, these women were now thrown into a city of death and destruction entirely on their own puny resources; and they found themselves unable to meet them.

They went loco while their more stolid peasant sisters from the bazaar jogged about the business of saving themselves and then their children with the bovine acceptance of these things generally shown by a harnessed bullock.

ORGANIZED POSTAL SERVICE

Finally, there were the white women; and they were great. I've often said and oftener felt that the white woman in India, particularly in a big military station like Quetta was, and is, a petted, pampered and spoiled nitwit. Not only was she physically incapable of the most elementary usefulness, but her conversation lacked intelligence, let alone brilliance. What on earth they did with their time all day, I often wondered.

But here they stood now. These very spoiled la-de-da loungers. Having lost homes and husbands, clothes and careers, friends and loved ones, they had also lost that lazy affectation. They were not working—bandaging the wounded, washing the dying, giving food here, a dose of anti-lock-jaw toxine there.

They were fighting the insane and the terrified. There were no hysterics, and no threats of nervous breakdowns among the white girls; yet they suffered and lost in equal proportion with all the rest.

Not an hour went by that what needed to be done with their own two hands, but they made important decisions and organized important salvage links on their own hook.

The post office, for instance. Letters were pouring into Quetta by airplane and train. Those letters belonged to people. The people were probably dead, but let it go to find out. So the white women started taking out the mail, amazed at the amount of cash money in unregistered envelopes.

Then, when they got stuff delivered, there came the frantic pleas of sick, hurt or dying people to help them get an answer back. But there were not stamps. Not a stamp in all Quetta. It was the women who persuaded the government to waive all postage and permit all mail to leave the town free.

Annual Picnic Of Woodward Employes Held On Wednesday

500 Attend Fifth Annual Outing of Department Store at Alberta Beach —Special Train Carries Holiday Makers.

Ideal weather, abundant refreshments, thrilling games, and gay music contributed to the success of the fifth annual picnic of the staff of the C. Woodward Department Store at Alberta Beach Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Approximately 500 persons, in holiday mood, boarded the special non-stop excursion train that left the C.N.R. depot here shortly after 1:00 p.m. Wednesday. Employes and friends of the store united on the gala occasion which is annually arranged by employes of Woodward's under the patronage of the store management.

SKIES CLEAR

Threatening clouds, which had darkened the sky early Wednesday morning, gave way to clear sunny skies as the holiday train proceeded towards its destination. Beauty of landscape bordering the lake in Alberta Beach was thoroughly appreciated by all on board.

Song sheets, distributed by the entertainment committee, were used by enthusiastic vocalists during the short journey to the holiday resort. Among entertainers who assisted with the program were Harry Luna, bagpipes artist, Sandy Perie and Ted Smith.

A lengthy sports program occupied many of the picnickers on arrival at Alberta Beach. Novelty races, sprints, and a stirring softball game comprised the events. Alberta Beach defeated a team representing Woodward's in the ball game.

GEO. PLOWMAN WINNER

George Plowman, member of Woodwards advertising department, captured stellar honors for individual prowess on the sports field. Plowman won second place honors in the mixed three-legged race with Ethel Nordstrom, combined with Sadie Coates to win the wheelbarrow race, captured the 35 yard sack race, and capped his achievements by winning first place in the 50 yard obstacle race.

Trophy presented by Woodward's to annual relay race winners was retained by the basement team captained by E. Paradis.

Out-door activities for the day were supplemented by unofficial boat trips and swimming parties in Lac Ste Anne. A dance in the evening in Alberta Beach pavilion, open to all picnickers completed official program for the day.

Statisticians reveal that 960 free bottles of pop were consumed, two cases of oranges distributed, and 20 gallons of ice-cream eaten. Tea, coffee, and milk were also distributed free by picnic officials.

J. M. Ferguson is honorary president of the staff executive which arranged the picnic: C. W. Allin, Smith and H. Kinnear are president, secretary and treasurer respectively of the executive committee.

Restoration Of Monarchy Will Be Vote Issue

ATHENS, July 11—Greece's national assembly was adjourned today, having taken steps for a plebiscite on the question of restoration of the monarchy before next Nov. 15.

The assembly voted in favor of a decree declaring that hereafter Greece will remain a republic or return to a monarchy. King George of Greece has been in exile since 1924.

Meanwhile in Paris, the wife of former Premier Eleftherios Venizelos, in exile in the French capital, said he was determined to return to Greece to fight the restoration.

She thus confirmed an interview given in London by former Premier Paganiotis, who said Venizelos, leader of last spring's unsuccessful revolt, was pledged to fight for restoration of the monarchy.

Venizelos at present is resting in the country near Paris. He is under sentence of death in Greece for his part in the revolt.

Veteran Denied Pension, Fires Shot At Judge

PARIS, July 11—A disabled Great War veteran, infuriated at a court's denial of his pension application, drew his revolver in the court room Wednesday and narrowly missed hitting the judge and attendants.

Guards overpowered the veteran, Paul Giustini, after he fired three shots into the wall of the court room, and dragged him off to jail.

Giustini was invalided home from the front when he nearly lost his eyesight in the first months of the war. The minister of pensions ruled he had applied illegally for a pension, and the court upheld the ministerial decision.

Humboldt Lawyer Drowns In Lake

HUMBOLDT, Sask. July 11—Vincent P. Murphy, Humboldt barrister, lost his life by drowning in Stony Lake here, Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Murphy was in a boat on the lake with his four children when the boat, which was believed to be rocky, struck some under water or capsized. The lawyer, a swimmer, was assisted by Lars Steiner in bringing the children safely to shore, and in the general excitement was not missed until ten or fifteen minutes after he had gone down. It is thought he was exhausted by his efforts.

ALBERTA HAS VARIED CROP OUTLOOK NOW

Dry Weather in South, Rain in North, Will Cut Down Yield

Continued dry weather in the south and extremely heavy rains in the north have reduced the excellence of the Alberta grain outlook and prospects for a heavy yield have considerably diminished, according to the provincial agricultural crop report, issued on Thursday by authority of Hon. F. S. Lister, minister.

"The crop situation in Alberta as it now stands presents the most varied conditions that have for growing crops may still be described as satisfactory and in some parts exceptionally good.

WHEAT IN SHOT BLADE

The report states that wheat is in the shot blade and heading out in the dryer districts, with varying heights. The sections suffering most from dry conditions include the territory from Lethbridge south-west to Cardston, west to Pincher, north and north-east to Vulcan and Longwood and beyond, as well as the territory along the eastern border of the province from north of Medicine Hat through Empress to the Goose Lake line. In these districts damage from drought already reaches from 10 to 25 per cent, but substantial general rains now would bring recovery of the balance of the crop almost to normal.

During the last week-end scattered showers visited some of the affected districts, giving some relief, but more moisture is needed. The fact that cool, cloudy weather has prevailed on occasions through these districts has prevented more serious damage from drought.

CONDITIONS PROMISING

Along the C.P.R. line north from Clareholm to Calgary and east to Vulcan and Brooks on the main line and the Strathmore and portion of the province north to this city and to the northern line of the Goose Lake and east to Medicine Lake line at Hanna and beyond, the conditions generally speaking are very promising.

This is particularly true of the western sections. Rainfall throughout this territory has been satisfactory and while as heavy as toward the eastern sections, has been sufficient to provide good healthy growth to the grains.

In the districts north and northwest from Edmonton, and throughout the Peace River-Grande Prairie district, the rains have been so continuous as seriously to retard the growth of the crops, and warm, dry weather is needed to advance it if normal growth is to be obtained. In some localities where flood conditions have prevailed, fields of grain are practically inundated.

COARSE GRAINS SUFFER

Coarse grains have suffered from a late start and retarded growth to such an extent in the north central and northern areas that much of them will undoubtedly be found th's fall in the feed stacks, and the present outlook is for a substantially greater supply of feed than was the case last season.

Hail storms have done slight damage in a number of districts in the central and southern areas. Cutworms and wireworms have been active in some districts, and grasshoppers are damaging crops in some of the drier areas, where poisoning operations have been proceeding steadily. The damage from this source, however, has been generally small compared with the past few years.

Alfalfa cutting is in progress in the south, and the crop generally is good. The sugar beet crop is progressing satisfactorily. Pasturage has greatly improved in many parts of the province and is excellent generally is reported in good condition.

The U.S. cattle market, which has been a saving factor for the cattle industry of Alberta during the past few months, has shown a decline and shipments have fallen off accordingly. Hog marketings have been lighter and the price has suffered a slight decline. Deliveries of cream, while considerably increased, are still erratic.

Ford Production To Date This Year Reaches 810,700

DETROIT, July 11—Henry Ford's production plan for "a million cars" in 1935, reached 810,700 units in the United States and Canada during the first six months, he announced Wednesday through representatives of the Ford Motor Co. Foreign manufacturing produced 37,804 units in the same period, he said, bringing the total Ford world output up to 848,504 on June 30.

The Bible now is circulated in 678 languages and dialects by the British and Foreign Bible Society.

CLAIM COAL MINES IN RED

DRUMHELLER, Alta., July 11.—Claiming that coal mines in the Drumheller valley had remained in the red for the past two years on operations, operators, presenting their brief before the conciliation board headed by Chief Justice Horace Harvey here Wednesday produced sworn statistics prepared by C. A. Christian, C.A., disclosing that of the eight mines affected by the dispute seven had lost money in 1933 and 1934 while the eighth, while having made a profit in 1933, had taken a heavier loss in the following year.

Before submitting evidence to support the contention that the coal industry could not afford to pay increased wages to its employees, L. A. Patrick, acting as counsel for the operators, remarked that while the companies involved in the dispute were prepared for a wage reduction, they were prepared, in a spirit of conciliation, to agree to the existing schedule for the next 12 months. Miners are asking for an increase representing approximately 12½ per cent.

BIG SUM FOR JAPAN'S NAVY

TOKYO, July 11.—The Japanese navy is preparing to demand in the next budget an appropriation of 712,000,000 yen (about $178,480,000), which is 35 per cent above the current year's 530,000,000 yen, the largest in the nation's history.

This figure was set by the navy's budget commission today upon the assumption that when the next fiscal year begins April 1, 1936, it will extend into a new era in which world naval powers will have abandoned limitation of navies.

Montreal Sales Tax Promotes Legal Battle

MONTREAL, July 11.—A prolonged legal battle between mayors of the island of Montreal's two leading cities—Montreal and Verdun—was promised today as a result of the Montreal sales tax.

Warning by Mayor Herve Forland, of Verdun, he would refuse to collect the tax, applicable to all retail sales in all cities on the island, the various municipalities receiving a share of the proceeds, resulted in indication from Mayor Camillien Houde of Montreal, sponsor of the law, last night that he would take the fight to the courts.

For A Smooth Skin Use An Astringent

By GLADYS GLAD

One of our best and prettiest song writers, who has written the songs for numerous musical comedies and cinema productions, keeps her chosen astringent in her icebox. She believes that all such skin lotions, to have a proper refining and toning effect, should be cold when applied. There's considerable wisdom in the idea. Of course, no lotion of any sort should be cold enough to shock the nerves or chill the skin when applied. That really is bad for the skin. But, just as cool water is more stimulating than warm, so an astringent or skin tonic is more effective in its result when cold than when tepid.

During the hot summer months a cooling astringent is especially necessary. For the heat of this season is inclined to enlarge the pores, imitate the exudation of excess perspiration and oil, and relax the skin. A good, properly cooled skin lotion or astringent tends to counteract these effects of the heat, and to cool and refresh the skin.

EFFECTIVE ASTRINGENT

There are, of course, many effective astringents now on the market. But I've recently found a new one that is not only refreshing, but is also effective in correcting an oily or flabby skin condition. To prepare this lotion, place one and one-half ounces of strained cucumber juice, one ounce of eau-de-cologne, and five ounces of elderflower water in a bottle, and shake the combined ingredients thoroughly. Then add to this half an ounce of tincture of benzoin, and again shake the mixture. There will probably be some precipitation of benzoin in this mixture, but it may be strained out through cheesecloth.

An astringent lotion of this type, of course, should be used only after the skin has been thoroughly cleansed. No astringent should ever be applied over a soiled skin, else it may lock the accumulated grime in the pores. This lotion is generally recommended for toning up an oily, coarse-pored, flabby skin. If you possess this latter type of skin, try the astringent during these forthcoming hot days, and see for yourself if it doesn't help to keep your skin looking firm, cool and fresh!

whose skin must be kept lovely for her stage and screen work.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Cosmetics

Bertha: I think that a soft ochre shade of powder, soft orange rouge, light, vivid lipstick and dark brown eyeshadow cream would blend harmoniously with your coloring.

Hair

Dolores: You will find the hot oil treatment for conditioning the hair previous to a permanent wave fully described in my "Beauty Culture" booklet. This booklet also gives the salt water treatments for oily, falling hair, and an excellent dandruff remedy.

Eyebrows

Helen: When plucking the eyebrows, first smooth a bit of cream over them and brush them into shape. And after you have finished the plucking, use a good astringent to close the pores.

EDITOR'S NOTE: To obtain Miss Glad's pamphlets on "The New Figure" and "Beauty Culture" write, care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, and ten cents in coin for each, to cover cost of printing and handling.

Hog Pool Holds Special Meeting

RIMBEY, July 11—At a special meeting of directors of the Blindman Valley Livestock association, commonly known as the "hog pool," Friday, the board decided to have eight directors instead of seven, and to hold the annual meeting in the summer instead of the winter.

The meeting was addressed by President R. E. Chowen, of Bentley, Hon. F. S. Grisdale, minister of agriculture, and H. Newcomb, district agriculturists, Red Deer. A. B. Aasrstad, of the Sunset district, was chairman.

Men Find Place In Women's Work Classes

After all, should it really be called the "Women's Building?" If you find the special building in which needlework, handicrafts and cooking are features, of interest at the Exhibition, you will be impressed with the fact that here and there men are entering one after another of the formerly all-feminine classes, and making a brave showing. So there is a movement afoot to have it called the "Arts and Crafts" building, or something like that. Surely women, who are making such an effort to be recognized in this world of men's work, wouldn't resent in the slightest degree competitors in what have been more or less their fields, in the past.

At the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto last year, a class of tea cosies was included for the first time, through arrangement with one of the tea companies. The director of the building made a reservation for fifty tea cosies. One was more likely to find a cocktail shaker than a tea cosy in many of the more modern homes, now-a-days. The feet or even a modernistic and unashamedly naked tea pot with no sign of a cosy. She even wondered, in her own mind, if anyone would actually remember what a tea cosy was. To her amazement there were 750 tea cosies entered . . . of all shapes, sizes and colors. And her really surprising fact was, that a number of the prize winners had been made by men.

This year that director is making a place for 1000 tea cosies . . . but you can never tell. It may be a hooked rugs or parchment lamp shades this season.

Anyway, watch in the women's building and see how many items you can find in the cookery, fancy needlework and handicrafts entered by men.

JUDGES ARE CHOSEN FOR SPECIAL WORK

Judging is one of the most important features of the Exhibition . . . and care has been taken in the choice of experts for various phases of women's work. Miss Kate Brighty, Mrs. Edward Underwood and Mrs. J. Macgregor Smith, each a specialist in women's craft, cooking and health work, will be among the leading judges. For the painting, Mrs. David Bowman and Miss Denise Owen will judge. Mrs. W. H. Jackson, Mrs. Duncan Forbes, Mrs. H. Patterson, Miss Jean Bulyea, and Mrs. H. W. Hewetson are judging needlework and Indian work.

For cooking, Misses Audrey Dean, Harriet Smith and Mona Kane will be judges.

SUMMER SWEETHEARTS

By Mabel McElliott

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KATHARINE STRYKHURST, beautiful, 20, becomes acquainted with MICHAEL HEATHEROE, teacher of riding, and acknowledges an unwilling attraction toward him. She is worried over the progress of an affair between ZOE PARKEN, her best friend, and CLIBBS LARKIN, of whom Zoe's parents disapprove.

Katharine and DR. JOHN KAYE, friend of the Strykhurst family, take Zoe to a night club where she sees GGibbs with a notorious woman. Zoe threatens to kill herself.

That same night Michael is interrupted into taking SALLY MOON, local coquette, to the same place. Sally, arriving home late, informs her father that she and Michael are engaged.

Zoe takes poison. Dr. Kaye works all night to save her life and succeeds. Katharine hears that Michael is going to marry Sally Moon.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XX

KATHARINE said, persistently, "I want to get away, Daddy."

Victor Strykhurst frowned. "I don't know what gets into you girls nowadays," he complained. "Zoe Parker has to be dragged all over Europe and even when she gets home she's not satisfied; why, you've got everything in the world you want—"

Katharine listened patiently. Stubbornly she went back to her argument.

"There's nothing for me to do here. Frankly, I'm bored. I'd like a job."

The snowy eyebrows shot up. "What could you do. No, it's nonsense; I won't have it. People'd say Bertine hadn't been good to you. And she has been good, hasn't she?"

It was almost pathetic, his desire for approval of Bertine, Katharine thought. Dryly she said, "Of course. But, Daddy, couldn't I have some of my own money now—the money Mother left in trust for me? It will be mine anyhow next year."

The merest shadow crossed his face. "Eh! No, I think that would be irregular. The bank probably wouldn't hear of it."

"I thought you had it in charge?" His high color deepened.

"Little girls shouldn't bother their heads about business. Your money will be paid over in due course."

He rose, terminating the interview. "Buy yourself a new hat and forget about it, my dear."

That, Kath-rine told herself, wandering out into the morning was that. She had been a fool to think she could do anything with her father.

But how could she bear Innicock now.

Bertine's words of the day before rang in her mind? Was it true? Could it be true that Michael Heatheroe was going to marry Sally Moon?

Incredible! Katharine's mind—her heart—rejected it.

Bertine had said coolly, "Of course, the Moons are up in arms. But what can they do? The girl's always been a wild one. And undoubtedly the man's a fortune hunter. Sally Moon will have a very tidy little fortune of her own some day."

She had dismissed the whole matter. Somehow Katharine had got out of the room. No one, she was sure, had noticed. Not even John Kaye, who saw everything, usually.

She made the day pass somehow. Sitange how empty hours could be when you hadn't anything to look forward to. Swimming, tennis, French lessons—sitting at the wheel of some boat with an attentive, bronzed young man beside you. It was all a dream in which you moved and spoke automatically.

So Michael Heatheroe was a fortune hunter! Could she believe that? Michael, with his lean, tanned face and those eyes that were so shrewd and kindly—could a man like that be really mean and base?

Or had he fallen desperately in love with the bundle of feminine flutter and curls that was Sally Moon?

The town buzzed with the sensation for several days. Have you heard? That crazy Sally Moon's gone and got herself engaged to the man who runs the riding club. Of course he's a nobody, my dear, but quite good manners, and so good-looking! Oh, well, the Moons are really outsiders, anyhow. Her mother was a girl in a shop, somewhere. . . . And so on and son on. Small town gossip. Picked up avidly by the lunching, bridge-playing women at the country club, tossed from mouth to mouth.

Katharine thought it would drive her frantic, at first. But she steeled herself to it. After a week — two weeks—she found she could bear the thought without flinching.

She had not been back to ride since the formal announcement in the papers. Therefore she had not met the slightly puzzled, unhappy look in the eyes of Michael Heatheroe. She had not been compelled to see Sally's triumphant smile or air of possessiveness.

"Well, I know one thing, my dear," she heard Bertine say impressively to Mrs. Ronalds, "I know if she brings him to the club I shall complain. I shall certainly expect both the members who know the man to cut him. It's not decent."

Sage had choked Katharine. She had flung herself out of the house, unable to trust herself further.

Zoe was completely recovered now. Lisa Parker took her out to Colorado in late August. Dr. Kaye came out less often these days. His practice was growing. Bertine had told everyone proudly that he was Park Avenue's most popular specialist.

So Katharine was left more and more to herself. She began to refuse invitations to dinners and dances, including the younger set of Innicock. Such parties bored her. She got into the habit, without Bertine's knowledge, of putting her sketching things into the car and driving up to Violet Merser's. Even if Violet were not at home, Katharine could set her easel up in the garden back of the little white house and work away busily and happily for hours.

The Merser garden was a pleasant jungle of old-fashioned flowers. Zinnias, nasturtiums, ageratum, snapdragons made a perfect riot of color here. Hollyhocks, gone to seed, leaned idly against the clapboarded walls and within a picket fence enclosure of the drying yard. A rocky path wandered up the hills behind the house. Katharine tore her stockings and scratched her hands on tangled berry bushes. Mint grew in a fragrant carpet behind the asters. It was all old-fashioned and comfortable and satisfying. Sometimes one of the small girls, sunburned and tatless, with tawny hair flying in the breeze, would run out to glance over her shoulder.

"Oh, that's lovely! Come, Mummy, see—she's done the bird bath and the roses."

Katharine loved it here. It meant release and escape. Her soul, feeling its inevitable growing pains, expanded in this simple, uncritical atmosphere.

Stanley Merser came back from his western trip and joined the family group without destroying the charm. He was a stooped, silent, gentle man in his late thirties. An artist, Stan Merser, and a good one. The little girls adored him. His wife was devoted to him, anxious for his comfort and happiness.

It was a good marriage—a solid, permanent companionable marriage Katharine, observing, felt that Violet Merser was a fortunate woman. Still Violet had told her one day that Stan hadn't been her first love. No, their coming together had been the culmination of a more mature attachment. Yet Violet was happy. . . .

Maybe all the fevers and fury of first love were wasted. . . .

And yet—and yet—Katharine couldn't bear to see Michael Heatheroe just now. Later, perhaps, when she had got over the shock of knowing he was going to wed someone else. When she'd managed to forget those scraps of words she had treasured so foolishly.

"My darling!" he had called her, holding her in his arms, that day Fury had flung her.

Or had she dreamed it?

Voices intruded into her day dream. "Katharine, we're going to have tea under the big maple. Want to take time out?"

She put down her pencil. "Oh, tea would be grand!"

Lavinia brought the big silver tray with the quimper cups on it and the thinly-sliced bread and the silver pot.

"Anybody want it iced? Stan, you? Or Evelyn?"

Evelyn Vincent was an Englishwoman, a friend of Violets. She came now, balancing her cup, to glance at Katharine's sketch.

"Oh, that's very nice, my dear. Look, Stan, don't you think so?"

"Mind if we look, Katharine?"

The girl shook her head, smiling. Funny, she didn't mind in the least if these people looked at her work. With Bertine, she would have fairly squirmed.

Stanley Merser, tall and loose-jointed in his white cotton slacks and blue shirt, came over to squint down at the easel.

"Why, this is awfully good, Evelyn, you ought to be able to do something with it."

Katharine, her heart beating very fast, looked from one to the other. They weren't making fun of her; they were in earnest! She had tried so hard to get it all down—the rocks and the drooping, gray-green plants clustered about them, and the flame and burnt orange of the nasturtiums.

"You've got something there, really," said Evelyn Vincent, who ran an art shop in Fifth Avenue.

For the first time in weeks hope stirred in Katharine's heart. Her "dabbling" as Bertine had always called it, contemptuously, might prove to be a way out for her, after all.

Do You Like Picnics? Here Are Some Hints

By MARY E. DAGUE

In July my family has a picnic on the slightest provocation, or with none. Sometimes we have it in our own garden, sometimes on a wooded hill twenty miles away, or beside a meandering brook in between. My young son will eat anything when it comes out of the picnic hamper and call it good, although he's particular at the home dinner table.

Sister Mary

If all the dishes and waxed paper and napkins are kept in one place it's no more trouble to pack a picnic basket than it is to set the table for a meal in the dining room. Keep all the paraphernalia in a cupboard close to the work table and use these dishes, knives, forks and spoons only for picnics. Gay colored composition ware or lightweight enamel ware plates and cups are light to carry and there's no danger of breakage.

We have discovered that salad forks are more satisfactory for general purpose picnic forks than the regulation supper fork. The sharp edge of the salad fork is easy to cut with and makes a knife almost unnecessary. I get some inexpensive plated forks and spoons so I don't worry about losing good silver.

Take a good supply of paper napkins as well as linen ones. The paper napkins are convenient when repacking the picnic basket for the return trip. A crumpled napkin is splendid to use to wipe off the soiled plates and silver, too.

PROVIDE ONE HOT DISH

Have one hot dish, and take it off the stove or out of the oven just as you are ready to start. Wrap it in many thicknesses of newspaper and tie it securely so the lid can't slip even at an angle. The paper keeps the heat in the dish and the food will be piping hot when opened.

Casserole of pork chops and potatoes is a fine picnic dish. The chops are easy to serve and the prolonged cooking makes them so tender that they break easily with a fork. Aside from this the combination develops a delicious flavor. About ten minutes before the mixture is done, sprinkle minced parsley over the top and then don't remove the cover again until serving time. The steam forms a slight seal which conserves the flavor and heat.

With this, bake tomatoes which have been scalded and chilled but not peeled. It only takes a second to peel them and they carry and keep better with their skins on.

Sandwiches, fruit and cookies or cup cakes and milk for the children and iced tea for adults finish this meal.

CASSEROLE OF PORK CHOPS AND POTATOES

Four pork chops, 4 good sized potatoes sliced very thin, 2 cups milk, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 small onion, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard.

Peel onion but do not cut. Put in center of casserole. Put a thin layer of potatoes in bottom of dish. Sprinkle with part of the salt and cover with potatoes. Season and add remaining chops. Pour in milk and dot with bits of fat cut from chops. Bake 1½ to 2 hours in a moderate oven with cover on casserole.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Chilled tomato juice, cereal, cream, baked French toast with maple syrup, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Creamed sardines on toast, apple tapioca pudding, limeade.

DINNER: (Picnic) Casserole of pork chops and potatoes, rye bread and butter sandwiches, tomatoes, pickled cucumber rings, chocolate cup cakes, fresh fruit, milk, iced tea or coffee.

Your Children -

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Ho, hum," yawned Mrs. Brown. "We ought to be in bed, Jim, but it's so nice and cool out here I hate to go in. It's the best part of the day. Anyhow, I don't have to get up so early now with the children out of school."

Husband and wife sat on the porch another hour before going upstairs. The three children were sprawled on their beds without covers, dead to the world that had kept them going every second of the hot day. They hadn't wanted to turn in. When all was said and done it had been 11 o'clock before Ted had folded his mantle about him and lain down to silent dreams.

O. R. Barton

Next morning Mrs. Brown shut off the alarm at seven-thirty and went back to bed, "just" for another five minutes." She was so tired and sleepy he could scarcely move. It had been nearly one when they turned out the last light. Finally she dressed and woke Jim and went down to get breakfast.

GETTING THE CHILDREN UP

She went upstairs and did the routine shaking and commanding. "Ted, you get right up this minute. Your breakfast will be ruined. Anyway I'm not going to do this every morning. I have work to do, and I can't have a lot of lazybones worrying me like this. Get up."

She repeated the performance in the girls' room. "Yes, you do need your breakfast. You can't get along on two meals a day," she added to the obvious answer.

She had them on their feet at last and went down to warm up the oatmeal and get the orange juice out of the refrigerator. "Gracie, you dish things up when you come down. I'm going to the laundry," she called.

A full hour later Gracie came down and drank her glass of orange juice. Helen and Ted straggled earthwards another hour after that. One had gone back to bed and the other just fooled away time.

TAKE TIP FROM ANIMALS

The house was hot and cluttered. Kitchen and dining-room topsy-turvy. The three were out playing somewhere when their mother came up from the laundry at eleven to make the beds. Then it was lunch time and the dishes would have to wait. Lunch was a sketchy affair because she was too tired and too busy to give it attention.

"I never used to be so tired when they were all in school," she thought. "I can't stand this all summer."

There was bickering and quarreling. All of them were on edge. The children yammered and coaxed and hit the ceiling when it was suggested they wash the dishes. The day went somehow. At dinner Jim was impatient and critical. Then the evening went like the night before. Bedtime postponed. Everybody tired the next day and bedlam right in its glory.

Yes, it is a temptation to stay up on summer evenings, but the birds and the beasts have better sense. Plenty of rest and sleep, a certain organized routine and food at the right time makes for a smoother road.

FAIR RACING MEET AROUSES KEEN INTEREST

With enthusiasm of citizens already aroused by the recent seven-day spring meeting, the Edmonton Exhibition association six-day race meet next week promises to be the most successful yet held in connection with the summer fair.

Edmonton followers of the turf sport have shown an increasing interest in the thoroughbreds during the last few years and this has mounted at an enthusiastic rate since the close of the spring meet here on June 8. These fans have been following closely the fortunes of their favorite horses on Winnipeg and Calgary tracks since that time and are anxiously awaiting their return to Edmonton.

GOOD PURSES

Exhibition officials are doing everything possible to make the coming meeting the best one in every respect. They have arranged a list of purses sufficiently large to attract all owners of the best horses on the Western Canada circuit, including the best stake thoroughbreds. There will be a purse-total of between $12,000 and $13,000 for the week, or approximately $2,000 daily.

Feature handicaps will be run each day and will include, among others, renewals of the W. J. Stark Memorial Handicap and the President's Purse.

The regular Speers Corporation staff of presiding steward, judges, starters, as well as pari-mutuel department heads, will be on hand to take charge of the racing, which gives assurance that it will be in capable hands.

TRACK IS FAST

The track itself has never been in better shape than at present. All visiting horsemen and officials were more than pleased with its condition during the spring meet and more work on it since has improved it even further.

All of the horses will arrive in the city by special train from Calgary early Sunday morning and will be able to go on the track for workouts that day and early Monday.

There will be seven races on each program, as usual, and the first each day will start at 2:00 p.m.

CHECK YOUR BABY, MISSUS?

Checking a live parcel does sound a little unusual, doesn't it? But the fact that the Baby Check Room will again be in full swing as soon as the Exhibition doors are opened wide to the public next week, simply indicates that the wise fathers of the directorate don't miss a trick. For a number of years now a competent staff of attendants have been ready at the creche building provided especially for the purpose on the grounds, yet away from the noise and excitement of the midway. There we may take babies or small children, and leave them for an hour or a day . . . you pay by the hour, so ils dealer's choice! A shady playground, well - fenced, and with swings, a sandpile and plenty of interest for little fo''s are to be found at the back of the building.

Mussolini and Hitler have their bigger and better family programs . . . but who can say Edmonton hasn't her own particular way of pointing out that raising progeny can be easily combined with enjoyment of the colorful pleasures of life?

Is It Fair To Bring Child Into World Now?

DEAR MISS DIX—Is it fair to bring children into the world when everything is so uncertain? Some people, through no fault of their own, have such unhappy lives. Is it worth while having children from the parents' standpoint?

MRS. L. N.

Answer: It is certainly as serious a matter to give life as it is to take it, and men and women should consider long and thoughtfully what sort of chance they are giving a child before they bring it into the world. Certainly no one has the right to give a child such a rotten deal as to handicap it with the stigma of illegitimacy, or to doom it to a lifetime of suffering by inflicting on it hereditary diseases.

Dorothy Dix

The least that parents can do for their children is to give them a fair start in the world, to give them good sound bodies and minds, and a respectable, decent, peaceful home in which to grow up. This is only giving the youngsters a square deal.

But if people refrained from having children until they could assure them a perfectly safe and prosperous journey through life there would never be another baby born, because there has never been a safe world and there will never be one.

Always, and to every child, life will be an adventure, full of dangers and difficulties through which he must fight his way, and no provision of the parents can safeguard him. Little princes lose their crowns almost before they are out of the cradle. Baby millionaires grow up to be paupers. Children reared in the gutter sit in the seats of the mighty by the time they are middle-aged. Geniuses are born in tenements. And so it goes. No man knows what fate may befall his children. And that is what makes life interesting and exciting, and probably no baby, if given its choice, would prefer to come into a cut and dried world, no matter how safe.

As to your question whether it is worth while having children from the parents' standpoint, I should say yes, if the parents are normal human beings. Possibly people who are selfish, self-centered egotists do not find children worth the trouble they cost, but most men and women get the purest happiness they ever have out of their babies.

Of course, children like everything else worth having, come high. The mother goes through the tortures of the damned to bring them into the world and while they are small she is a slave to them. The father pays for them with work, with sacrifice, by spending his spare time pushing the perambulator instead of playing golf or pool. In the average household both the mother and the father must deny themselves a thousand pleasures, a thousand indulgences, in order that the children may have the proper medical care, that they may be clothed, and educated and given a start in life.

But they have the joy of feeling little arms around their necks and having little heads cuddle on their breasts and seeing little faces watching for them at the window, and that is a keener happiness than any other that it is possible to know. And they have an interest in life that the childless never know.

As we grow older our interest in ourselves wanes. We don't care so much about ourselves and our personal hopes. We don't believe in ourselves so much. We know that nothing much awaits us in the future. What was in us to do, we have done, and it wasn't so hot. And so if we have no children we have no keen interest in the future.

But if we have children we still have a stake in the game. What we haven't done we expect them to do. Where we have failed we look to them to succeed. We live again in them and it keeps us keyed up, alert and young ourselves.

Furthermore, our children's triumphs are sweeter to us than any of our own ever were. No man boasts of his own success as he does of his son's. No woman was ever so vain of her own beauty as she is of her daughter's. So children pay just because they are a fountain of perpetual youth to their parents.

Furthermore, even as a practical investment children pay. Leaving outside the pale those unnatural fathers and mothers who make slaves of their children, it is a fact that the best insurance for one's old age that any man and woman can take out is their children, as you will see if you will observe that in almost every home there is a father or mother whose old age is made soft and sweet by the devotion of loving sons and daughters.

DOROTHY DIX.

We are giving a farewell party to a girl leaving for an extended vacation. It will be held in a suburban hotel. Most of the men will come in white trousers; none in evening clothes. Should the girls wear evening clothes? MARY W.

As this is a Summer affair it would be much better for the girls to select semi-formal attire such as light organdies, linen jackets and ankle-length frocks. Elaborate dresses would be out of place at an affair which has so informal a purpose and is held in such surroundings.

U.S. Planning New Warships

WASHINGTON, July 11—Secretary Claude Swanson announced that the United States navy's building program for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1936, would include 12 destroyers and six submarines, and possibly a battleship.

He explained at a press conference that under the Vinson Act 34 units—26 destroyers and 18 submarines—would be required to bring the fleet to treaty strength by 1942.

The Debunker

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph.D.

Hongkong is an island, not a city, and was ceded to Great Britain in 1841 for a naval base. Other islands, with Hongkong, make up a group called "Greater Hongkong." The capital is Victoria. Hongkong is located at the mouth of the Canton River, and has over thirty square miles of land on it.

China Hopes To Put Stop To Foot-Binding

PEIPING, China, July 11—A campaign against foot-binding in the city of Peiping, has been launched by Yuan Liang, famous in China as the "Blue Law" mayor of Peiping. Six regulations have been devised governing the execution of the movement.

The first regulation is that girls under fifteen will not be allowed to bind their feet. Those that have already done so are ordered to unbind them immediately. Women between the ages of fifteen and thirty who have their feet bound, are given three months in which to unbind them. Women over thirty are permitted to unbind their feet at their leisure.

Failure to observe the new regulations results in a fine not to exceed $10 in Chinese money, ($4 in Canadian) for the first warning, but, if warned a second time the fine automatically becomes $100 in Chinese money or about $40 in Canadian currency.

"Where Ferns Dip To A Pool"

There's peace in a garden that just doesn't exist anywhere else . . . and if the flowers for a setting for happy days, then the quiet, little pool is the gem of the jewel. Even a very small garden may have a pool, and often it is the loveliest under a large tree, or fashioned in an oval between large roots of trees. But if we desire water lilies or hyacinths, we must have it in a position to get sunlight. It is also good to have one small section of the pool shallow. This makes an ideal bird bath. It is always enjoyable to watch the birds splashing about in the water, and on warm days you may find them waiting their turn since the "bird bathing beach" will be continually in use.

PICNIC AT FARM HOUSE IS JOLLY

BAWLF, July 11.—Motoring out to the beautiful farm home of Mr. and Mrs. 'Aarnt Mosand the pupils of the Lutheran Sunday School had the jolliest kind of Sunday School picnic recently.

The setting was very pretty, the lawn surrounded by lovely shade trees and carpanas, and the tables, in white linen, were soon ladened with all kinds of picnic refreshments. At the further side, the sports took place. Games of softball, races and numerous contests filled the day with pleasure for The younger ones.

Rev. P. Lerseth, in a few well chosen words, presented a book to each of the teachers. A large crowd attended for the day was ideal for a picnic.

British laundries have an annual revenue of approximately $10,000,000 from handkerchiefs alone.

GREEN IS COOL LOOKING SUMMER COLOR

Green is one of the coolest-looking colors you can wear on hot days. A short-sleeved, rather dark green dress of washable silk, triple sheer linen or cotton, matching jacket or one of green and white striped flannel, white shoes, hat and gloves and brown bag make an ensemble that looks cool even though the temperature is almost unbearable. On days when your white accessories don't appeal to you, wear brown ones.

Beautiful Country Garden Has Peace For All Who Come

By LOTTA C. DEMPSEY

It is so late that nothing is awake in the city but a double row of street lamps, which are extinguished, just beyond my vision, by the long, dark fingers of the night. But do not think people can be working anywhere else, in bright electricity and to the staccato accompaniment of typewriters and the whir of machines, except in a newspaper office. I am finished, and my mind is closing heavily over the day like a book whose weight of pages presses down the covers. But something strong and deep is holding me here, at an ink-stained desk under the green-shaded light, and seeks expression. It is the memory of the garden I left in the softly rolling hill lands this afternoon.

It will not go. I know that the night has washed the flame out of the lilies, and the misty blue of the wild flax will be a faint blur of color beside the little pool, now wrapped heavily in shadows, and unrippled. Although the crickets will be chirping, and the distant, muffled hum of a motor from the near-by highway will sound now and then, the peace that passeth all understanding will be deep upon the garden.

This afternoon it was gay with little rolling groups. The flowers fairly preened themselves under the adoration of the guests . . . the artistically design, ed rustic summer house stretched its limbs to accommodate the laughing groups of visitors. It is a friendly little summer house with a knowledge of life within it. Here have come many peoples, alone and in couples, tired and weary. Here come, too, little children to play, and tall young girls with bright eyes, to dream long dreams; and here have been, more than once, men whose canes make deep marks in the fresh, soft, green of the lawns, and whose feet are unsure on the sunken stones of the pathways. For Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Weekes open wide their garden to visitors, and some months have entertained soldier patients from the University hospital at their Horse Hills farm.

The tiger lilies were bad and bold and vain, said Mrs. Weekes, as they flared against the pool and at the sides of the rock garden. They had not been meant to grow there in such startling profusion. But they were assertive.

"The flowers love her," someone remarked as she walked among them, a lady in her garden, restful, yet filled with an understanding of deep living. Her cool lavender frock and wide hat melted into the strangely alive blues and yellows and pinks of the petals, and somehow all the wide borders of lemon and lavender violas rushed up to make a background for her, and claim her as their own.

Perhaps you have a favorite view of river valley and wooded ravine, from a city house? but I offer you Mrs. Weekes' window, at Horse Hills, as one of the loveliest pictures in my memory book of this province of ours. Mrs. Weekes planted the garden, and Edmonton built the city whose lights twinkle in a pale golden fringe along the sky line in the distance.

But God put the rolling green hills with their twisted mists and shadows, in between, and laid the beauty of the sunset against them.

You walk along a garden path that might have sheltered Puck and Pan, for, I'm not quite sure that there isn't some mischief and witchery in the way these pale yellow lady slippers have grown, among the trees, and in the size and beauty of gracious white violets, wild anemones and clusters of laundered daisies. Through Alberta trees you walk, catching glimpses of lavender sky rocket everywhere against the green. Then suddenly, you find the house and garden. When you catch your breath again, you may go visiting with the ferns that whisper around the pool at the end of the rockery, or stop and dream in the waves of drifting blue flax, and wonder if Van Dyke ever thought of them in his search for the "Blue Flower." You will pause a little startled, I think, by the banks of white mountain snow, and catch the fragrance of the pinks as you pass. Everywhere you will want to hold out both arms and gather in the color that flows through the lupin beds, and find the meaning of the wistful columbines. You might be lured away by the lilies . . . the lemon ones compete with the tigers . . . and feel the enchantment of Japanese lantern vine that lights the trellises with a pale glow. You will be lost in that world of dreams which only exists in a garden that shelters the spirit of the flowers, as well as their form.

ONLY FIVE YEARS OLD

Mrs. Weekes came to her present home five years ago. The garden has been wrung out of a wilderness, in her deft hands. Rocks have been carried with unending but loving labor from many parts of Alberta . . . even the north.

"Expensive?" she laughs. "Well, one year I did do things on a really lavish scale, and my bills amounted to nearly $7 for the season. This year they will be $4 . . . including the rose bushes."

Mrs. Weekes has found the secret of a garden because she loves it so. You feel that in the way all the wild blossoms rush to the very borders of the place, pushing out eagerly to join the garden folk inside.

I think I know why so many of Mrs. Weekes' former patients from her nursing home days in Edmonton go to Horse Hills for days of re-strengthening against the rush of life. I think I can understand, catching a glimpse of her charming country living room with its old chinas and brasses and shelves of well-worn books, why she is one of the best read women of the district, and why she led the way in amateur dramatics to a successful climax in the presentation of Somerset Maughan's "The Land of Promise" last year. I can imagine why the tiger lily plant burst into 185 blooms in one season, by the twice destroyed and thrice made lily pool, at the foot of the rock garden.

WORD OF FINALE

I told you it was very late at night. A crooked old man in ragged clothes, who walks along the pavement below my office window as one whose body is very worn with living, has stumbled by. I have been reading long, thin sheets of stems that will make tomorrow's paper: a calendar of world events for you . . . famine, fire, unemployment, rumors of war. Perhaps I am just tired.

But do you think it completely silly that I should remember the cool velvet of the viola beds, and wonder how it would feel to know the peace that looks up from their faces? Utterly ridiculous, the sort of things one thinks about a garden . . . looking back on it, late at night, isn't it?

Perhaps the magic of the place is to be found in something Mrs. Weekes remarked, this afternoon, her kind brown eyes looking away to a vision of her native Kentish country.

"I fancy I learned about flowers from my mother. She loved gardening," she said.

Then she hastily corrected herself, with an apologetic smile, which seemed to explain it all.

"I should have said . . . she loved a garden."

CRAFT SHOP IS ESTABLISHED IN NEW QUARTERS

The Corona Craft Shop has moved from 10186 102nd Avenue and is now located at 10011 102nd street, right opposite the Union Bus Depot.

On display at the shop is a large assortment of novelties for summer use either at home, at the lakeside cottage, or camp. Brightly colored mats, verandah furniture, gadgets for kitchen use, all suitable and inexpensive gifts, and some good work done by a boy whose heart condition prevents physical exertion in any way.

Saturday afternoon, July 13, tea will be served at the shop at a very moderate rate, and on each succeeding Saturday afternoon until further notice.

All work on sale at this shop is done by Alberta people who are trying to support themselves rather than accept relief.

Dim headlights may indicate the need for early replacement of bulbs.

West Shows Interest In Vice-Regal Gift

OTTAWA, July 11.—A piece of gold plate made in Canada by Canadian workmen will be the gift of Canadian women to Lady Bessborough on her departure from Canada.

Following a meeting yesterday of the executive for the Lady Bessborough gift fund, it was stated "marked enthusiasm" had been manifested in western Canada with respect to the plan.

HUNDREDS OF ALBERTA GIRLS GO TO CAMPS

Imagine hiking over trails at dawn to see and hear the birds as they greet the day, a breakfast on a sandy shore, the delicious smell of bacon, the aroma of coffee and toast; the thrill of Bible study where you really want to say what you think; learning to swim—to dive—the magic of camp fire; new friends, and a new vision of the whole purpose of life. District camps offer such delights to girls 12 to 19 years. There are high occasions—vespers at sunset; Sunday worship in the leafy shelter of the chapel; solemn beauty of camp ceremonials; quiet talks with leaders—all these are unforgetable times.

Elk Island Park Camp—From dry dusty towns to the shelter of green trees on the shores of a beautiful little lake, come the girls along the C.N.R. line from Fort Saskatchewan to Lloydminster; south to Tofield and north to Smoky Lake and Vilna. Miss Lillian Carscadden of Red Deer is the director. Miss Isobel Wells of Edmonton the sports officer, and Mrs. A. E. Archer of Lamont the business manager. Dates July 22, August 1.

NEW CAMP

A new site on Lake Saskatoon is joyful news for the Grande Prairie campers. Girls from Sexsmith, Wembley, Beaverlodge, Hythe, Demmitt, Clairmont and surrounding districts are looking forward to this camp. Miss Jean Huston is the director, and Mrs. W. J. Thomson of Grande Prairie is the business manager. Dates July 2 to July 11.

Harmon River Valley camp, 2 miles north of Nampa Station, is the first C.G.I.T. camp for girls of this area. Kinuso, High Prairie, McLennan, Peace River, Grimshaw, Berwyn, Brownvale, Whitelaw, Wiesky, Fairview, Hines Creek and Notikewin are expected to send representatives. Miss Helen Berry, B.A., of Edmonton is the director. Miss Marion McKinley is expected to act as sports officer. Mr. J. E. McNeil of Peace River is in charge of business arrangements. Dates are July 5 to July 12.

GIRLS GO TO BEAUTY SPOT

Viking district camp has enjoyed for the past four years a splendid site at Camp Lake. To this beauty spot go the girls from Holden, Ryley, Irma, Viking, Phillips, Jarrow and neighboring towns. Rev. Dr. Scott of Viking is the registrar and business manager. The director has yet to be appointed. Dates July 18 to July 28.

Hardisty Lake camp is for the girls from Daysland to Czar and south to Alliance. Miss Phyllis Collier of Viking is the director. Rev. Pybus of Daysland is the business manager. The dates are July 3 to July 10.

Meridian Beach, Gull Lake, affords a well-equipped site for the girls from Lacombe and neighboring towns. Mrs. Bower Forward of Calgary has been chosen as director. Rev. Layton of Lacombe is the business manager. Dates July 12 to July 22.

Summer camps for Canadian Girls in Training are promoted by the Girls' Work Board of the Religious Education Council of Alberta. As the council consists of representatives from the Anglican, Baptist, Presbyterian and United Churches, girls from all these denominations may attend. Those who have been in registered C.G.I.T. groups for the past year will be given first preference.

L. O. SANDERS F. T. BEDDOME

Hebrew School Principal Will Go to Palestine

After 12 years service as principal of the Hebrew school in Edmonton, Mr. L. Pekarsky is leaving to visit Palestine for an indefinite period, and prior to his departure members of the Zionist and Hadassah organizations entertained at a banquet in the Corona hotel on Wednesday evening. There were about 100 guests present and a gift was presented to Mr. Pekarsky from the Zionists by Mr. H. A. Friedman, K.C., and flowers were presented to Mrs. Pekarsky from the Hadassah organization by Mrs. J. Newhouse the president. Mrs Pekarsky and her children are planning to join Mr. Pekarsky in Palestine later.

In the years in which he has taught in the Hebrew school, Mr Pekarsky has also completed University courses, taking honors in classics for his Bachelor's degree, and also studying law. His many achievements and his popularity as principal of the school were mentioned by the various speakers, who included Dr. E. Wershof, Mr. M Lieberman, Rabbi Shriber, Rabbi Haft, Mr. Spochinsky, Mr. Pusman, Mr. Olyan and Mr. Hanson.

DRY LIPS MAKE LIPSTICK STICK

Before you blame the brand for the fact that your lipstick doesn't stay on for hours, check up on your method of application. Lipstick should be smoothed on dry lips, allowed to set for several minutes and then wiped off with cleansing tissue. Do not moisten your lips until the surplus has been removed and the rough edges have been straightened.

What's What

Question — I've just recently moved here and would like to have an informal at-home for my neighbors and acquaintances. Would it be all right to serve cocktails and hors d'oeuvres instead of the usual tea, coffee, sandwiches and cakes? I haven't any tea service except an ordinary china one, whereas I have a lovely cocktail set. Also, would it be proper to invite people whom I've met but who have not yet called on me?

SMALL-TOWN READER.

Answer—At studio teas and other smart afternoon gatherings nowadays it is quite usual to serve cocktails with hors d'oeuvres, not "instead of" tea, but as an alternative. Choice of tea, coffee or cocktails should be open to the preference of guests. That is especially true in a small town, where Martins, Manhattans, Bronxes, etc., may not appeal to conservative tastes. It does not matter about the simplicity of your tea service; china is china, however unornamented. Do not serve sandwiches with afternoon tea during the Summer months. You may invite congenial acquaintances, whether they have paid formal calls or not. Strict bookkeeping in the matter of receiving and paying calls receives little attention today. Whatever its other faults may be, we can be thankful that this is an era of sincere informality.

Question—Which is the correct form for this addition to a recommendation: "If at any time she is ever in need of a position I should (or will) be glad to re-employ her."

D. K.

Answer—Use "shall" or "should."

Edmonton Visitor From Vancouver

Mrs. Geoffrey Malcolmson of Vancouver who is spending the summer months in Edmonton with Dr. and Mrs. George Malcolmson and at Gull Lake with Mr. and Mrs. E. Claire Darling. Mrs. Malcolmson was Miss Geraldine Fowler of Winnipeg before her marriage, and is a frequent visitor in Edmonton.

the social round . . . .

QUEEN MARY may be old-fashioned in her ways but she has plenty of sound common sense, says the Boston Post. She has announced that ladies who paint their finger nails crimson are not welcome at the royal residence. At the recent receptions a few of those who ventured to enter the Buckingham Palace portals with highly decorated finger nails were coldly commanded to wash off the paint before being presented to the Queen. Most men will be ready to give three cheers for the Queen's good sense. Of all the fads which women have taken up this red finger nail business is the silliest. It is on a par with the blackened teeth of women of some savage tribes. There is a widely held idea that women dress to please men. Lately it has seemed that some feminine fashions are calculated to make men sore. The red finger nails are particularly obnoxious.

THE SHEPHERDESS

She walks—the lady of my delight—
A shepherdess of sheep.
Her flocks are thoughts. She keeps them white:
She guards them from the sheep.
She feeds them on the fragrant height,
And folds them in for sleep.

She roams maternal hills and bright,
Dark valleys safe and deep
Into that tender breast at night
The chastest stars may peep.
She walks—the lady of my delight—
A shepherdess of sheep.

She holds her little thoughts in sight,
Though gay they run and leap.
She is so circumspect and right;
She has her soul to keep.
She walks—the lady of my delight—
A shepherdess of sheep.

—Alice Meynell.

It is hoped that the sun will shine for the Y.W.C.A. garden party on Friday afternoon to be held on the lawns of Christ Church; but if it should rain the affair, including the pre-arranged program, will be held in the Parish Hall. So many garden parties have moved indoors recently that the women conveners have quite proven their ingenuity by bringing sun and flowers into big rooms, and have not been in the least upset by the disagreeable temper of the weather. Mrs. H. A. Arnold, Mrs. G. A. Macdonald, Mrs. A. E. Black and Mrs. Cornell have been invited to pour tea. The fashion show of summer frocks and beach things arranged by the Hudson's Bay Company will be most attractive, and from the board, Mrs. W. L. Freeman and Mrs. A. S. Tuttle will be manequins.

Gained 20 Lbs. In 6 Weeks—Never Felt Better says G. W.

Other rundown "Naturally Skinny" folks everywhere equally delighted with amazing results from Kelpamalt.

This new mineral concentrate from the sea gets right down to the cause of thin, underweight conditions and adds weight "3 ways in 1."

First, its natural minerals help produce digestive juices that alone enable you to digest the fats and starches, the weight-making elements in food. Second, Kelpamalt's NATURAL IODINE regulates the internal glands which control metabolism—the process of converting digested food into firm flesh, new strength and energy. 3 tablets contain more iron and copper than 1 lb. of spinach or 7½ lbs. of fresh tomatoes; more calcium than 6 eggs, more phosphorus than 1½ lbs. carrots, more NATURAL IODINE than 1600 lbs. of beef.

Try Kelpamalt for a week. You'll be delighted with results. It costs but little at all good drug stores.

Make This Test

If you are thin, sunken cheeked hollow chested, rundown and underweight, you will find this simple test well worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Next take Kelpamalt, 2 or 3 tablets, with each meal. Then weigh and measure yourself again each week and continue taking Kelpamalt regularly until you are satisfied with your gain in weight and energy. Kelpamalt is easy and economical to take. 100 jumbo size tablets, 4 to 5 times the size of ordinary tablets, cost but a few cents a day. So remarkable are the benefits from these highly concentrated tablets that entire satisfaction is absolutely guaranteed or the small amount you pay for the trial will be promptly refunded.

NOT A SCHOOL

Bureau Of Research Is Of Interest

The stage is set and the play goes on, but do you ever think of what is happening behind the scenes? If you're a woman you do, for one of the tell-tale marks of feminine curiosity is a desire to see how things are done, and why.

Probably that is why so many women earnestly desire to know what is happening in their shopping adventures, and to see behind the rows of shiny tins in the grocery departments, and to know the real merit and qualities of the fabrics they are buying.

The T. Eaton C. is always eager to be of assistance to the buyer. And, combining interest with information, they will present what promises to be one of the most interesting features of this year's Exhibition, the Research Bureau Exhibit, in the Manufacturers Building.

Here apparatus and photographs from the Research Bureau, Winnipeg that is an important department of Eaton's, will give an idea of the exact qualities and quantities of the store's varied merchandise.

Demonstrations of testing of oils, foodstuffs, textiles, paper, metals and many other articles will be given, and a liquid air demonstration promises to be especially entertaining and valuable. Enlarged photographs will indicate the work being carried on in the Winnipeg laboratory.

The first auto to reach a two-mile-a-minute speed was a Stanley steamer—in 1904. The car was thoroughly streamlined.

Cakes With Spices And All Things Nice Go To Compete At Exhibition

Aunt Mirsnda knew that the reason the minister came every Sunday night to supper was her tea biscuits many of which simply melted away in the clerical mouth upon the conclusion of the weekly Sabbath. And so Aunt Miranda with nearly 100 other community-famous cooks, vied for honors at Exhibition Week, when the judges were those while uniformed graduates of Home Economics who knew just how much of everything was baked into the 100 batches of flaky, golden topped masterpieces. Such might be a tale of the Edmonton Exhibition, for the Women's Building this year will have everything of fascination and interest to women from the said biscuits, preserves and chocolate cakes to furniture, made at home, that is not to occupy more than four square feet of floor space.

Heavier than ever, say they who are in charge, are the entries in all classes this year. Today they repeat it with a groan for they are still at the stage where they tag things with labels and write names in numbered classes in blue lined notebooks. But next week, with the building crowded with admiring spectators, and Aunt Miranda and her kin, beaming over firsts and special prizes, may they share the pride of workmanship and organization.

NEW HANDICRAFTS

Several new classes in handicrafts are specially popular this year. Ship models have six entries and Fisher Body Coach models have four. These are new, while the piece of furniture that may be a kitchen table, or a new kind of step ladder, so long as it occupies not more than four precious square feet of floor space, has intrigued seven amateur manufacturers to compete for the prize. There is the usual heavy entry in statue work, fretwork, wood carving, and many or mosaic art equally popular. There are five entries in the ship carving and six in the inlay work.

Certainly the knitting needles have flown as quickly as passing minutes, for there are 17 knitted and crocheted suits to be judged and 19 sweaters and blouses. Who says we women don't do our own sewing? As for sewing with the myriad of tiny stitches that pick out a pattern in gay threads on the finest linens, the New Canadians who have a special class for their work this year have made many entries. Their embroideries which are the envy of all less clever with fingers and color, are done on hand woven materials . . . some of which are even hand spun, and the wool is taken from Alberta sheep. It's the development of a splendid home industry.

SPECIALS FOR RUGS

Special prizes are offered by the Edmonton Branch Canadian Handicrafts Guild for exhibits in rugs, quilting and handmade gloves. Also, sponsoring weaving, Mr. James Douglas president of the exhibition, has offered $10 in prizes for weaving done on a handmade loom.

To come back to food "Yes, thanks, I'll have a large piece of each of those 76 chocolate cakes" . . . I don't think! Not in these days of calories, but I might have tried it ten years ago. However, slaves to their profession, the Home Ecoromists will have 76 pieces of cake, and also 68 pieces of cake on top of that for they must judge the entries for the special Blue Willow prize. Magic Baking Powder also adds to their troubles by multiplying the tea biscuits and cakes and things. Preserved fruit shiny in its rich golden or winey syrup will be judged also with jams, jellies, and good healthful vegetables.

INSTITUTE TO SERVE TEA ON THE VERANDAH

On the west verandah of the Women's Institute Building at the Exhibition grounds, tea will be served with members of the Edmonton Branch of the Women's Institute as hostesses each day. Out-of-town members of the Institute will be especially welcomed, and for many who come to the Women's Building to inspect the exhibits, the comfortable rest rooms arranged by the W.I. are most welcome after the hurry and bustle of the Midway, and the responsibility of taking the children to the fair. Any visitors to the Exhibition may be guests at the Women's Institute tea room. Mrs. W. C. Short, as president, will be in charge during the week.

Housed in the Women's Building will be exhibits of work from the Ponoka Mental Institute, the Red Deer reformatory, and other institutions. On the verandah this year, instead of in the tent on the grounds, will be the Red Cross emergency hospital, always a haven for the few unfortunates who succumb to sun and excitement or get themselves hurt. A trained nurse is regularly in charge and medical professional attention available.

He charged Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin with "political dishonesty" and asserted: "Ministers now are not chosen for ability but just to represent the various sections of the National government."

He challenged appointment to the cabinet of Ramsay MacDonald's son, Malcolm, and of Anthony Eden as unfair or unnecessary.

CIVIC PHONE SYSTEM MOST UP TO MINUTE

Growth of Utility in 31 Years Little Short Of Amazing

There is a saying to the effect that one half of the world does not know how the other lives. Certainly this held true before science brought the world to our door and even into our room, but today the marvel of electricity has forever scrapped this adage. You are as near to the rest of the world as the telephone which hangs on the wall of your home or rests on the desk in your office.

Edmonton is rated as having one of the most up-to-date telephone systems in existence, and the growth of this utility has been little short of amazing in the 31 years of its existence. In 1903 the capital investment was about $50,000; today it is rapidly approaching the $2,000,000 mark. In that year the net surplus was $4,149; since then it has climbed to $1,942,247.

421 SUBSCRIBERS

In 1905 people subscribing to the service numbered 421. The present number of customers is 19,412.

According to a brief history of the utility prepared by Robert Christie, superintendent of the department, the Edmonton civic administration entered the public telephone field in 1904 when it purchased the local system for the purpose of operating it as a municipal utility. The price paid was $17,000. The original plant was operated by the Edmonton District Telephone Co., owned and managed by the late Alex Taylor.

TURN THE CRANK

In those days it was necessary to turn the crank of the telephone in order to signal the operator, who completed the connection to the required party. This style of service is known as the magneto type, and was naturally very slow. As the comunity grew, it became obsolete, and in 1908 new three-wire service was put into effect. This automatic equipment was the first of its kind in Alberta and the second in the Dominion.

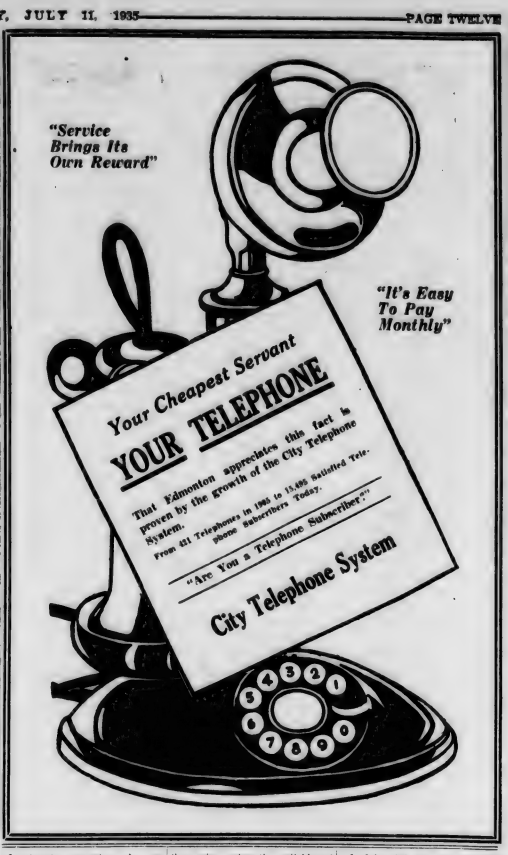

The year 1913 saw the building of two additional exchanges, these being located in the north and west districts of the city to serve subscribers in their respective areas.

SEPARATE SERVICE

Originally, Strathcona had a separate service of its own which was purchased from the provincial government for $149,000, but it became a part of the Edmonton exchange network when the amalgamation of the two cities took place. Improved automatic equipment of the two-wire type was installed in a new main exchange building in 1921 when 1,000 lines of apparatus was added to the plant. In 1926 the South Side exchange was changed to the most modern two-wire type of automatic apparatus. A new fireproof building was erected and the installation, consisting of 2,200 lines of equipment, was completed in January, 1927. All subscribers were then cut-over from the old three-wire automatic switchboard to the two-wire system.

In 1908 the city's telephone equipment could only serve a maximum of 8,000 lines. The modern system can serve 99,000 lines.

In July, 1930, the main exchange was changed to the most modern two-wire system, and plans are now being prepared for changing the north and west offices to the two-wire equipment.

Race Track Will Be Social Centre During Exhibition Week Here

Toronto has its Woodbine, the men swank in grey toppers and morning suits, the presence of Their Excellencies the Governor General and his Lady lending eclat to the opening day and the running of the King's Plate. Montreal has its Thorncliffe with Junior Leaguers staging fashion shows throughout the season, much in the manner of mannequins from Paris coutures at Autiel and Longchamps and models from London shops parade at Ascot.

But shall Edmnton be found wanting? No indeed! Exhibition week finds the smart set rubbing shoulders with hundreds of other fans, and a race track, it would seem, makes the whole world kin.

A number of prominent matrons and debutantes have been in Calgary for Stampede week, especially enjoying the races. It is certain that there will be a large attendance here.

Each year one sees more and more gay frocks and summery hats mixed in the line of flannels and tweeds at the pari mutuel windows before each race. Women often have a crazy way of betting, using charms, and systems which would be considered by a scoffing masculine world peculiarly feminine; but often they are at the collecting wickets when the race is over.

WHY NOT LUNCHEON AND RACES?

Racing days are the raison d'etre for many gay and informal parties. Informal luncheons are followed by a visit to the tracks, which may be the beginning of an exciting day. Its very much the thing, as you know if you follow any of the smart plays, movies and books of the season, to get one's fun in a native fashion, and merry-go-round rides, roller coaster thrills, side show amusement and peaks at freaks are a part of every well educated young sophisticate's career, when Exhibition time comes around.

For the busy day at the races and on the Midway . . . you will see many sheer frocks, if the weather is good, with white topcoats; pastel will probably bloom like the flowers in shop windows, with the popular yellow note of the season in much evidence. White, cloudy pink and powder blue are among the favorites.

LIGHT, POWER GIVEN TO CITY IN YEAR 1891

This Civic Utility Made Rapid Strides Since Its Inception

In the year 1891 the City of Edmonton was given electrical energy, and from that time on this civic utility's history has been one of rapid growth and praise-worthy management. Since its inception it has produced a surplus of $2,748,-861, largely due to the wise management of Supt. Wm. Barnhouse.

Forty-four years ago a group of townsmen formed a company called the Edmonton Electric Company, and having obtained a ten-year franchise from the municipality, began operations under the management of the late Alex Taylor. A steam plant was erected on the river bank near the Low Level bridge, and the necessary wire and poles were taken along Jasper avenue from Kinistino avenue (now 96 street) to 103 street, giving electrical service to the principal buildings and stores of the town.

ACQUIRED PLANT

At the end of the franchise period, the town council decided that if a private company could operate a lighting plant successfully, the municipality could do likewise, and straightway proceeded to take steps to acquire the plant and distribution system. The purchase was consummated in May, 1902, the price paid being $18,500.

Later, the plant was moved from the Low Level bridge site to the one it now occupies. As the system grew a new generator was purchased which produced energy known to the electrical trade as three-phase current.

Until taken over by the town council, the plant gave daylight service only, but there was a demand for better lighting in store basements, and other places of business, and it was finally decided that a 24-hour service should be given. From that time there has been a steady and consistent growth in this utility, both in the number of customers and in the electricity generated.

In 1922 the 13,200-volt ring main feeder system was started, the work being completed in 1926. Substations have been built for the purpose of reducing the voltage from 13,200 to 2,300 volts, this making it possible for the linemen to work on the different wires leading from the substations to customers' residences. Care was taken to have the ring main feeder system built with ample capacity so that efficient service at a minimum cost could be given industrial plants in any part of the city. It is so flexible that additions can be made without changing any of the existing equipment.

At the present time there are 20,900 meters in service, as compared to 5,422 in 1910, and during that period the net surplus has grown from $10,948 to $2,748,051.

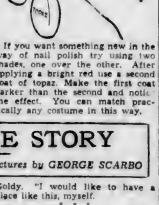

Emergency Hospital Is Ready at Fair

Once an ordinary tent formerly stood, open to the havoc wrought by wind and rain, and hot under the sunny skies, in front of the Women's Building at the Exhibition. In it a nurse waited to bind up cuts, to treat bruises and often to administer first aid in serious cases. She was a nurse provided by the Provincial Nursing Service of the Department of Health, and the tent was her hospital.

When the Edmonton Exhibition opens this year, there will be a real little hospital in its place, its three rooms equipped for first aid and emergency work. Miss Blanche Emerson will be in attendance throughout the Exhibition week and the service offered is for the benefit of all individuals attending the Fair. Many have been the helpful aids given to those in need in the past and since even the best managed events have their misfortunes, it is expected that the Emergency Hospital will serve its purpose.

Provincial Nursing Work Explained

Sometimes movements of great import are born in our midst, and we are too close to them to be aware of their interesting features. Perhaps that is what has happened, in a way, regarding the Public Health Nursing Branch of the Provincial Department of Health. Under the able guidance of its superintendent, Miss Kate Brighty, the branch has developed into one of the most important health services being carried on in any country. Its network covers many remote parts of Alberta. Its nurses go like true ministering angels to people who would be lost without their work.

Something of what is being done will be shown to those who visit the Edmonton Exhibition and call at the special demonstration and exhibit on the first floor of the Women's Building. Here Miss Brighty will receive visitors and explain the work wherever possible. She will be assisted by the Edmonton City assistant, Miss Anderson, and Miss French of Kinnaso. Mrs. Hyde of Fort Assiniboine, both registered nurses carrying on this valuable work in Alberta districts.

Charts and statements indicating the health services, and some display of the work of supplying infant layettes to needy mothers in outlying districts, in which provincial women's organizations are co-operating, will be shown.

Although appearing to be all head, the ocean sunfish often reaches a weight of one ton.

BASKETBALL TOURNEY TO BE FEATURE

With the fame and prowess of the Edmonton Grads furnishing the incentive, interest in basketball has blanketed Alberta, until today there is probably no village or school that does not play a team with technique and finish which a few years ago would have given stiff competition to senior city teams.

The Edmonton exhibition's annual basketball tournament was originally organized to give teams from out of town an opportunity to meet at a central point on a convenient date to compete for championship trophies.

With no Edmonton teams eligible, A. R. Lawrence, director of the Exhibition basketball tournament, already has an entry list of more than 40.

Last year the senior boys' championship was carried away by Mundare, Hairy Hill copped the senior girls' trophy, Erskine took both the high school boys' and high school girls' winnings; and this year all teams will return to battle anew.

The management of the tourney has added new classes, for junior boys and girls, 16 years and under.

Girls' games are billed for Tuesday and Wednesday, July 16 and 17, while boys will play Thursday and Friday, July 18 and 19.

A. R. Lawrence of 5311 104 ave., is in charge of the tourney.

A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HAL. COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

The frog guards were a sight to see. They looked as haughty as could be, both wearing swords and real high hats. Cried Dotty, "Howdy do?"

"We came here with the old sea man to see all of the sights we can. We'd like to see the palace. Will you let us pass by you?"

One of the frogs bowed and replied, "Of course we will. Walk right inside. As long as you are with the sea man, everything's all right."

"When strangers come, we keep them out, so you can likely guess, no doubt. We hope you have a good time here. The palace is a sight . . .

In went the Twins, on the run all looking forward to some fun. The kindly sea man followed them and said, "Now, look around . . .

"It's taken years to build this home. I gather shells wherever I roam. The finest ones I've picked up, on my large walls can be found . . .

"Why, this is simply marvelous, and quite a big surprise to us," said Goldy. "I would like to have a place like this, myself.

"There's one thing, though, I do not see. It's food! That would appeal to me." The sea man promptly answered, "I will get some from my shelf."

As odd as it may seem, the bunch soon was enjoying quite a lunch beneath the sea. "It tastes real good," said Dunc, with a grin.

Then Scouty shouted to the rest, "Here comes a fish, real strangely dressed." "My name is Porter Pike," exclaimed the fish, as he flapped in.

"While you fois are beneath the sea, just roaming 'round, it seems to me that you should have some bathing suits, so I have brought you some . . .

"Just wear them, fois, whene'er you please, and you can swim 'round with ease." "Oh, thanks a lot," said Dotty. "We are very glad you've come . . .

(Dunc gets a real scare in the next story.)

Record Attendance Expected At This Year's Exhibition

If the volume of advance ticket sales is any measuring stick, attendance figures of this year's Edmonton Exhibition will out-strip records of other years.

The demands for the popular five-ticket strips has jumped by leaps and bounds, northern Alberta being blanketed with ticket agents in every drug store, service station, newsstand, cigar store, post office, and other depots.

A competition among the boys of rural towns and villages of the province has added much pepper to the advance ticket sale which closes Saturday, July 13. Free trips to the Exhibition, all expenses paid, are being awarded to the 12 boys which push their ticket sales to the highest figures—and of course keen rivalry has developed as citizens of the various towns have boosted for their own home-town youngsters to cop the coveted free trip to the big fair.

Stalin Has 10-Year Plan For Moscow Reconstruction

Will Convert City Into Ultra-Modern Home For 5,000,000

New City Will Cover More Than Double the Area of Present One — Wide Zone of Forests and Parks.

MOSCOW, July 11—A 10-year plan for the reconstruction of Moscow, converting it into an ultra-modern capital for 5,000,000 inhabitants, was announced last night by Joseph Stalin, dictator of Soviet Russia.

Joseph Stalin

The new city will cover more than double the area of the present one, which has a population of 3,500,000. It will be surrounded by a six-mile wide zone of forests and parks to assure the populace clean air and furnish places for outings.

The size of the famous Red Square will be doubled, broad new avenues laid out, huge new hotels erected and 135,000,000 square feet of new housing space provided if the goal of the plan is achieved.

A shortage of living space at present is the most serious problem in the overcrowded capital. Emergency regulations limit the space allowed per person to 12 square yards.

GIGANTIC TASK

If the same tactics adopted in the Soviet's two five-year industrial plans are employed, the government's full resources of labor and equipment will be thrown into the task, which promises to be one of the most gigantic yet undertaken by the Bolsheviists.

Work on the 10-year plan is to start at the beginning of 1936.

AMUSEMENTS

CAPITOL

"In Caliente," First National's latest musical, opens at the Capitol theatre today. Its all star cast is headed by Dolores Del Rio, Pat O'Brien, Leo Carrillo and Edward Everett Horton.

Scores of beautiful Hollywood chorus girls appear in numbers created and directed by Busby Berkeley, who staged the big hits in "Gold Diggers of 1933," "Wonder Bar," "42nd Street" and a score of other film musicals.

Two famous song writing teams, Warren and Dubin and Dixon and Weibel, wrote the songs for the Berkeley production numbers. They include "Muchacha," "Lady in Red" and the title song, "In Caliente."

Phil Regan, the radio cop, sings the "Muchacha," which features Dolores in a dance revenue, and "To Call You My Own," a ballad. Winifred Shaw sings the "Lady in Red," and "In Caliente" is sung by a group of entertainers.

Others in the cast include the famous DeMarcos, who do some specialty dancing, and "The Canova Family," radio's "Hill Billies of the South." Dorothy Dare, Lila Alberni, George Humbert, William Davidson, Harry Holman, Soledad Jimenez, Herman Bing and Florence Fair.

On the bill is Thelma Todd with Patsy Kelly in their latest comedy, "Sing, Sister, Sing," and Oddity Film and the Capitol News.

STRAND

The charming romantic team of Anna Neagle and Fernand Gravey at the Strand theatre today in "The Runaway Queen," a light, modern, romantic comedy, based on Oscar Straus' famous operetta, "The Queen."

Samson Raphaelson adapted the screen play, while Monckton Hoffe contributed the smart, crisp dialogue which distinguishes the film.

"The Runaway Queen" casts the beautiful blonde Anna as Nadina, a New York department store clerk, who is recalled to take over the toppling throne of a mythical kingdom.

Her coronation is interrupted by a revolution and, fleeing incognito into retirement, she meets and falls in love with Carl, the handsome young revolutionary who deposed her, played, of course, by the dark-eyed Gravey.

AMY TO SEEK NEW RECORDS FATHER SAYS

J. W. Johnson, Father of Amy Mollison, in City Short Time

Amy Johnson Mollison, famed British flier is planning another of her new-making record breaking flights, said her father J. W. Johnson when he stepped off the club car of the Canadian National Railways' crack "Continental Limited" and talked with reporters on the 25-minute stop-over in Edmonton Wednesday night. With Steen Nilson, prominent Norwegian fish merchant, Mr. Johnson is returning from Pacific coast points where big deals were closed for the shipping of Canadian halibut and salmon into the British and Norwegian fish markets.

Mr. Johnson refused point blank to talk of his famous daughter's new flight, warding off questions with counter-questions of aviation on the prairies, the airport and other points of interest of which he had heard.

PROMISED NOT TO TELL

"I promised Amy I wouldn't tell," he explained and that ended it.

Fish is a most important item on the English and Norwegian menus and the supply as far as halibut and salmon goes cannot keep up with the demand.

It was to fill the gap that Johnson and Nilsen journeyed to the Pacific coast.

On the "Continental Limited" which they were aboard were four cars of fish being rushed east to Mr. Johnson's brother, T. H. Johnson, president and managing director of the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Co.

Halibut and salmon will continue to roll across Canada in increasing amounts following the successful negotiations of Johnson and Nilsen on the west coast.

NO STRANGER HERE

Mr. Johnson is no stranger to Canada, having travelled the Trail of '98.

"Yes, I fly a bit," he said. "One little hop that was a bit of alright was my flight from Corpus Christi, Texas, to St. Louis, Mo. I was in New York last year when Amy was in Arizona, but I didn't get to see her."

When the father of the famous Amy stepped off the club car "Fort Alexander" carpet slippers were on his feet.

And I intend wearing them to Montreal and then across the Atlantic," said the short, round, smartly-dressed, cheery-faced Englishman.

He admitted Amy's daring some times caused him loss of sleep and plenty of worried hours.

"I never can sleep when Amy's in the air," he said. "She'll fly anywhere as long as it's for experience."

ROCKIES IMPRESS

Both men were impressed by the grandeur of the Canadian Rockies on their way from Prince Rupert.

"A great country," was the way Mr. Johnson expressed it. "We were thrilled today and it takes something to thrill us."

The two fish buyers stopped over four hours at the National Park, visiting Jasper Park Lodge and Mount Edith Cavell.

"Never seen anything to equal it at home," both men agreed.

Both men are homeward bound. Johnson to Hull, England, and Nilsen to Oslo, Norway.

Red Deer Will Hold Big Fair

RED DEER, July 11—Livestock men of Central Alberta are grooming their animals in readiness for the Red Deer fair, which will be held here July 25, 26 and 27. Live-stock exhibits have long been an outstanding feature of the Fair and in the past few years their excellence has challenged the showing at the larger Western Canada exhibitions.

Displays of agricultural produce of all kinds and ladies' work, will also form strong classes. With prospects of good crops in the district, the 1935 event promises to be a splendid one. Fine grandstand attractions have been secured and there will be a big midway. Horse racing will be one of the prominent features of the fair, and the provincial junior track and field championships will be staged on July 27, last day of the exhibition.

Price lists have been issued and copies may be had from the secretary, President A. L. Forrester, Secretary R. S. Gillespie and the committees are now putting on their final drive to put the fair over.

ALDERMEN HOIST PLAN TO COMPLETE SCENIC DRIVEWAY

City Council Not Prepared To Adopt Work-at-Wages Plan

Mayor Clarke's Resolution To Complete Drive as Relief Work Measure Referred to Special Relief Committee.

Not prepared to adopt Mayor J. A. Clarke's resolution calling for the completion of the Jasper East scenic driveway as a relief work measure with unemployed being paid at the rate of 48 cents an hour, city council, at a special meeting Wednesday, referred the question to its special relief committee for further consideration and ordered that the committee report back within a week. Communications from other cities in Canada dealing with the work-at-wages scheme for relief cases will also be considered along with the mayor's resolution.

TEST PROJECT

Anxious to have his plan tried, Mayor Clarke declared Wednesday he was prepared to restrict his proposed program to the scenic driveway as a test project. Originally, he favored the idea being tried out on a larger scale, with park and golf course improvements, boulevarding and street repairs being done by unemployed.

The mayor's resolution follows:

1—That the work and wages program for the present be limited to the uncompleted portion of the grading of the scenic highway, beginning at 82 street and continuing east.

2—That this scenic driveway be completed with as little extra engineering cost as possible, and that the cost be limited to wages for relief recipients.

3—That the engineering supervision necessary be supplied by permanent employes of the engineer's department.

4—That the relief department continue the present method of distributing relief until the first cash payment is made.

PAY WAGES

5—That arrangements be made to pay the wages earned every two weeks, and that after the first payment those receiving same have their contribution from the relief department discontinued.

6—That for the initial undertaking, the amount of work to be done under this proposal be limited to the total amount now allowed by the present relief schedule to each recipient.

7—That from the payment of cash as outlined under this resolution there be deducted the rent now allowed relief recipients, the cash city bills, the balance to be paid in cash.

8—That all sub-foremen and timekeepers and other necessary supervisors of work be obtained where possible from among those on relief.

9—That the above resolution be not effective in case any opposition to the same is made by unemployed now on relief, or unless proper assurances are given that the contributions of the Dominion and provincial governments to the city's relief expenditures are to be continued after the program becomes effective.

The mayor declared his plan would use only relief cases willing to work for the the allowances they were getting and he believed several hundred unemployed would be glad to receive 48 cents an hour in cash. Park and golf course improvements, boulevarding, road work and weeding were projects which could come under the scheme. It was estimated that work to the value of $31,000 could be done and if the jobless were not used then this amount would be spent for direct relief "and the men would be doing nothing."

7,700 MAN DAYS

City Engineer A. W. Haddow informed council that the program outlined would provide 7,700 man days of work, which meant 77 men working for 100 days.

One point was clear to him, said the mayor, and it was that $250,000 would be spent on relief before the snow flies, and we'll get nothing for it."

Ald. J. W. Fry wanted to know what guarantee the city had that the men would do a fair day's work. Forty-eight cents an hour was good wages, he said.

The alderman also asked whether the proposed program would be halted if the cost exceeded the present cost of direct relief.

Mayor Clarke replied that as soon as one man had earned his allowance he would be replaced by another worker who would be required to do the same.

AGAINST CASH

Urging an immediate decision on the question, Ald. R. V. Bellamy said he did not favor a cash wage in return for the work. If any money was to be paid out for the completion of the Jasper East scenic drive, then it should be done by way of tenders.

FAIR WEATHER NOW FORECAST

FUNERAL FOR WM. TIERNEY ON SATURDAY

Veteran Civic Employee Seized With Heart Attack While Working

Funeral of William Tierney, 58, of 9604 103 street, who died following a heart attack while at his desk in the city power plant Tuesday afternoon, will be held at 2:30 p.m., Saturday, from Howard and McBride's funeral chapel. He was an employee of the city for more than 15 years.

Rev. Canon Pierce-Goulding will officiate at the service and interment will be made in the family plot, Edmonton cemetery.

Mr. Tierney came to Canada from Manchester, England, in 1905, settling on a farm in the Lloydminster district. He arrived in Edmonton 22 years ago.

WAR SERVICE

Going overseas with the 63rd Battalian, Mr. Tierney served in the war until the Armistice.

Predeceased by children demise, his family said deceased had been in good health when he had left home for the office at lunchtime Tuesday.

He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Isabel, residing at home, and Gladys, now Mrs. Louis Dennington, also of Edmonton, six grandsons, Billie and Ronald, sons of the late Jas. Edward Tierney, of Oakland, Calif., and three sisters, Mrs. J. Horrocks, Mrs. E. Greenwood and Mrs. E. Sutcliffe, all of Huddersbridge, Yorkshire, Eng. Another son, Roy Michael, also predeceased his father.

Arrangements are being made for a soldier's funeral, details of which will be announced later.

Mayor Requests Dominion Help On Shift Probe

Attempting to expedite the settlement of the street railway motormen's dispute here, and following a communication from F. E. Harrison, Dominion fair wage officer, to the effect he did not know when he could reach Edmonton to negotiate in this question, Mayor J. A. Clarke has wired D. M. Dickson, federal deputy minister of labor, asking whether the government could send a substitute for Mr. Harrison.

Thursday, Mr. Dickson wired the mayor that he will send forward a letter in answer to this request which is expected to reach the city Friday.

Mr. Harrison is being held at the Pacific coast owing to longshoremen's strike trouble in Vancouver. Several weeks ago city council invited him to come here and attempt to negotiate for a settlement of the street railway shift problem.

Police Court

Charged with keeping a disorderly house, Edith Crawford was committed for trial and Julia Munro was also committed as an alleged inmate of this house. This disposal of the case was made at the request of John Hart, counsel for both.

"Is there any particular reason for your request to this as a preliminary hearing?" Magistrate Col. P. C. H. Primrose asked Mr. Hart.

"There is no particular reason. Just that it would give me a better chance to prepare a defence," Mr. Hart replied.

"Well, it makes no difference to me, provided there is some reason," the magistrate replied.

"It makes no difference to me either, if there is good reason," Prosecutor Charles Becker said. "But there is some virtue in getting these things over as quickly as possible. The case couldn't be heard until September unless they take speedy trial."

"Unless they take speedy trial—" the magistrate repeated.

"That was our intention," Mr. Hart said.

"Then the idea seems to be just to get it out of this court," Mr. Becker remarked.

"We shall go ahead with the evidence and I will give my decision at the proper time," Col. Primrose announced.

Mrs. M. Marchuk was fined $1 or five days for striking 11-year-old Marion Derkach with her fist. She gave a denial but the rest of her testimony was "No speak English." Resident in Canada four years, she had naturalization papers which her husband had procured at the same time he received his own. She had not been required to appear before a judge. The magistrate reiterated his decision to allow an interpreter to a naturalized British subject.

"Do you mean to say that a person can get these papers without appearing before a judge and whether they can speak English or not?" he asked.

"I am not suggesting that, sir," N. Romaniuk, defence counsel, replied. "I am just stating that these are the facts."

"Well, she'll get no interpreter here," Col. Primrose ruled.

John Perry, charged with illegal possession of illicit liquor, was fined $200 and costs or six months in jail. He had a previous conviction of operating a still.

Gleaned From Today's News

L. W. Anderson, Ontario, manager for the Italian Steamship Line, was a business visitor in Edmonton on Thursday.

Representatives of Local 82, Civic Employees' Union, conferred with commissioners Thursday morning in connection with the union agreement with the city. Discussions will be continued Friday.

Heavy rains bordering on the Coast Branch line of the Canadian National Railways led to minor track difficulties, but so far has resulted in no interference with service, it was stated at Edmonton offices of the railroad Thursday.

He picked the boy up and took him to the University hospital.

ANOTHER PROOF TARIFF POLICY IS HARMFUL

Canada Losing Belgian Market by Arbitrary Valuations

Asking co-operation of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce in an effort to increase reciprocal trade between Belgium and Canada, the office of the Belgian chamber of commerce in Montreal has communicated with John Blue, secretary of the Edmonton trade body.

The Belgian authorities point out that Canada's wheat surpluses would find a ready market in Belgium if this country were willing to accept manufactured products of the old world country in trade. Extensive trading is hindered by "authority of the department of national revenue, which places arbitrary valuations on certain imports," the communication states.

The message declares that Canada has had a favorable trade balance with Belgium for many years but the privilege may be legislated against by the latter country unless increased co-operation is forthcoming.

FLOODS STILL HALT TRAINS

A scheduled Northern Alberta Railways train to the Peace River country, leaving the C.N.R. depot here early afternoon, will not proceed further than Smith, it was stated by officials. Flood conditions at the Lesser Slave Lake preclude further progress.

A south-bound passenger train which was halted at Milner Wednesday was able to proceed Thursday and is expected to reach Edmonton at 6:00 p.m. Thursday.

"Everything's been done before," croon the crooners as bored dancers dance till dawn.

"In view of recent front page news, do you think everything's been done before?" the B.I.R. crooned to a select audience today.

Reactions follow:

EDNA BROWN, student: "The gentlemen that wrote that song must have been seriously impressed with the philosophy postulating that there is nothing new under the sun. I like the music but the words don't impress me."

STEWART WOODLAND, department store employee: "Everything may have been done before but some of the things that were done certainly must have been accomplished in the very distant past. I'm sure they are up to date as long ago or we wouldn't be so surprised when they happen again."

SUPPORT GIVEN WORK PROGRAM FEDERAL GOVT.

Hon. W. A. Gordon Says No Objection to Mayor's Plan

Setting at rest fears that the Dominion government might reduce its contribution toward civic relief expenditures if Edmonton adopted any system other than direct relief, Hon. W. A. Gordon, Federal Minister of Labor, informed Mayor J. A. Clarke by letter Thursday there would be no objection raised by the Dominion to the mayor's proposal that as far as possible a work for-wages plan replace the present direct relief system.

One of the objections made to the proposed program was based on the possibility of the Federal government reducing or even discontinuing its grant if relief cases were put to work.

IN ACCORD

Mr. Gordon's letter reads, in part: "The Dominion government contributes to the province of Alberta a monthly grant-in-aid to assist the province in connection with its relief responsibilities. The distribution of the funds supplied by the Dominion are entirely within the jurisdiction of the provincial authorities, provided they are used for the purpose of relief, and that no discrimination or impropriety is allowed in connection with the distribution of such funds. Far from objecting to work being done in return for relief, the police is one concerning when I am heartily in accord."

CHARGE! AND DRIVERS STEP ON THE GAS

British Cavalry Commander Tells of New Mechanized Army

Crack British cavalry units stand to for action. Come the command . . . Trot! Gallop! Charge! . . . and drivers shove gas pedals to the floor as the squadrons get away in a cloud of exhaust fumes, chugging over the field of action in Baby Austin cars.

Such is life in the British cavalry, according to Lt. Col. F. H. Burnside, officer commanding the Third King's Own Hussars who passed through Edmonton Thursday morning to inspect the Wonderland camp of the Alberta Mounted Rifles and the 19th Alberta Dragoons.

The British cavalry officer on furlough, registered at the MacDonald hotel, was met by Col. E. A. Pittman, Captain J. H. Kennedy and Major B. I. Love who escorted him to camp, where Col. W. Hendrie and Lt. W. Oliver were waiting to welcome him.

ALLIED WITH ALBERTA TROOPS

The Alberta Mounted Rifles regiment is allied with the Third King's Own Hussars and it is the first time in the history of Military District No. 13 that an officer of the allied regiment has made an inspection trip.

Founded by the Duke of Somerset 250 years ago, the Third King's Own Hussars celebrate their anniversary at Tidworth camp, England, next month, and representatives of the Alberta Mounted Rifles will be there.

It is Lt. Col. Burnside's first visit to Canada. He arrived in April and since then has covered 13,000 miles.

His cavalry unit, said Lt. Colonel Burnside, has been selected by the War department to go under mechanization, using small featherweight Austin cars instead of horses.

REAL HEDGE HOPPERS

"The machines are real hedge-hoppers," laughed the English officer, and as he spoke, along to our station, pick up the cars, boost them over and are off again in a cloud of smoke."

By next year all British cavalry regiments will be using autos, only one regiment of horses and the trucks being retained by each unit. An Englishman by speech, birth and breeding, Lt. Col. Burnside fought with the Fourth Canadian Division in the Great War. Major General MacBrien, now commissioner of the R.C.M.P., being one of his O.C.'s.

Lt.-Col. Burnside is on an extended tour "until the money gives out," and has already covered much territory in this "wonderful land of yours." Visiting Baton Rouge and New Orleans, he was disappointed in missing "the big show I have read so much about—the Kingfish Huey Long." He stopped over in Hollywood long enough to see Will Rogers and Richard Dix play polo, but admitted that the Canadian Rockies impressed him more than the stars of movieland.

NOT LIKE CRICKET

He is a great baseball fan, but confesses to be a little shocked at the conduct of the galleries.

"The fans, as you call them," said Lt.-Col. Burnside, "do a terrific amount of shouting at the batter when he swings and at the umpire when he makes a decision. We don't do anything like that when we play cricket."

The Calgary Stampede was something new to the English visitor, and he clapped the cowboys and Indians as, "stupendous," having picked up that objective in his association with the Hollywoodians, Rogers and Dix.

AMALGAMATION HEALTH UNITS PRESSED HERE

City Board Would Adopt New Scheme Passed by Plebiscite

Pressing for the proposed amalgamation of health services adopted by plebiscite at the municipal elections two years ago, the city health board has communicated with Calgary and Hamilton, in which cities the new type of service is in effect. Reports on the success of the scheme in these municipalities will then be studied by the board.

The proposal providing for the union of the various health services now operated in Edmonton, including those of the health and school boards and various other nursing organizations, was submitted to the electors and approved. Since that time, however, the school board has opposed such an amalgamation. Steps are now being taken with a view to having effect to the decision of the electors.

Request from several small dairies in this district that they be exempted from certain health regulations imposed by the department has been received by the health board. The city solicitor will prepare a report advising the board whether such a concession can be given.

DIPHTHERIA antitoxin is produced by growing diphtheria germs on culture mediums, and injecting into a horse the poison developed by these germs. After the horse has developed anti-substance against the poison, some of the horse's blood is withdrawn. The serum then is separated from the red corpuscles, and concentrated.

Britain To Protect Public Against Raids From Air

RESPIRATORS WILL GUARD AGAINST GAS

Local Authorities to be Held Responsible in Final Analysis

LONDON, July 11.—A comprehensive program for protecting Britain's population against air raids went out Wednesday to all local authorities in England, Scotland and Wales, accompanied by assurances "the need for these measures in no way implies risk of war."

The government's circular, which made plain that local authorities would be responsible in the final analysis for protection of the public, also pledged the government to continue striving for peace.

WORK FOR PEACE

Issuance of the instructions, it said, did not "imply any relaxation of effort on the part of His Majesty's government to ensure the promotion and maintenance of peace by all means in their power, and to use to the full the machinery of the League of Nations and other instruments for guaranteeing peace."

The government already has made arrangements for an initial supply of respirators to be allotted partly for training in their use against gas and partly to build up reserves.

Air raids warnings, lighting restrictions, rescue and salvage work were left entirely up to local authorities.

Farmer's Wheat 40 Inches High

OLDS, July 11.—John Stronsmoe, living northwest of Olds, in the Eagle Hill district, brought a sample of Garnet wheat to town Friday, measuring 40 inches tall and headed out. This was from a 25 acre field, seeded April 27. A sample from another field, sown May 14, stood 36 inches.

Crops in this district are all in fine shape, with no damage from rain, cause and the ground soaked to the subsoil. Late sown wheat is not as far advanced as last year at this time but is expected to make rapid growth with warm weather. Pastures and hay crops are the best in years.

H. G. Thunell Opens Election Campaign

VIKING, July 11.—H. G. Thunell, Liberal candidate for the provincial constituency of Sedgewick, has opened his campaign, and at several meetings held last week, which were well attended, the Liberal policies and platform have been presented.

Mr. Thunell advocates a license fee of $5 for all makes and sizes of cars, regardless of wheel base; co-operation with the federal government in monetary reform, lower interest rates, and a work with wages program.

He criticizes the present provincial government for collecting over twice the amount of taxes in a year of depression, 1934, as in 1921, a comparatively good year, also the immense provincial debt, which has grown about seven million dollars per year under the U. F. A. government, which, when it went into power, was pledged to decrease the provincial debt. Matters of local constituency interest have also been discussed. It is quite freely predicted that the Sedgewick constituency will join the Liberal ranks at the next provincial election.

Wheat Clearance

OTTAWA, July 11.—Export clearings of wheat during the week ended July 5 amounted to 1,442,503 bushels, compared with 1,795,233 bushels the previous week, and 1,899,754 bushels for the same week a year ago, according to the dominion bureau of statistics report issued today.

RAIN STALLS CARS

BUSBY, July 11.—Cars coming from Lac La Nonne were stalled east of Busby when a terrific rainstorm swept this area Sunday. The rain up to the present is considered by some to be too much for grain but gardens are doing well. The Gruden garage, which was burned recently, will be rebuilt.

Worker Drowns

WINNIPEG, July 11.—Working to free jammed driftwood on the rain-swollen Assiniboine river at Headingley, 12 miles west of here, Arthur Yates, about 40, slipped into the racing waters and was drowned Tuesday. The body has not yet been recovered.

MIDWAY WILL FEATURE HIGH CLASS SHOWS

On their second visit to the annual Edmonton Exhibition, the Royal American Shows—world's largest midway—are bringing a finer group of amusement devices and a larger army of entertainers even than a year ago when these attractions made summer fair history on their appearance in the city.

There are 24 high class tent theatres 17 thrilling rides and more than 1,000 performers, artists and workers with the midway this season. The equipment, 40 double-car lengths of it, will arrive on a special train the night of Sunday, July 14.

CARIOCA GANG

Outstanding in the midway attractions this year, according to advance information, are Raynell and her Carioca Gang, the Oriental Temple of Mystery, Carver's famed high diving horse, the World's Fair Lion Motordrome, Dixie's Cotton Blossom Minstrels and a score of other attractions from a Century of Progress at Chicago last year.

Among the new riding devices are two units of a Century of Progress Sky Rocket, six units of the new Loop-the-Loop, four giant ferris wheels, a battery of Ballyhoo searchlights and a new midway illumination tower festooned with colored lights.

ARMLESS WONDER

Such internationally famous entertainers as Paul Des Duke, the armless wonder; Egan Twist, the human doughnut; Chester Dolphin, champion sword-swallower, and Pop Eye Perry, the only man alive able to eject his eyes from their sockets are among the World's Fair freaks.

Streets of Paris, a high class tent theatre, presents a unique bevy of beautiful girls in statuette, an attractive girl frozen in a block of ice, the bodiless, singing, talking head of a girl, the decapitation of Dagmar on an historic French guillotine . . . all surrounded with the gay and gaudy mysteries of Gay Paree.

The most sensational wild animal act of show history will make its bow for the first time in Canada when Marjorie Kemp rides with a 480 pound jungle-bred Nubian lion seated beside her on a motorcycle around the perpendicular walls of the Lion Motordrome. Miss Kemp's daring struggle with the fighting Nubian killer is so packed with thrills that few spectators will dare crowd close to the rim of the walls.

Another feature, long absent from the western midways, will be the re-enaction of the battle between the United States "G" men and the public enemies of the country. Each of the No. 1 bad men will be seen in the wax.

Possibly the most spectacular feature on the midway, packing such a 50-volt thrill that children will not be allowed on it, is the new Sky Rocket Ride from Chicago's Century of Progress. Two large passenger buckets, holding only eight persons, swing on steel pendulum-like arms, getting higher and faster with each sweep, finally going entirely over the steel top of the ride's framework.

A 12-passenger tri-motor airplane is a new feature designed to interest the air-minded exhibition fans.

POWERFUL SEARCHLIGHTS

The 200 million candlepower navy searchlights will again burn into the night air for 100 miles surroundign the city.

Another show guaranteed to get the timid shivering is Carver's high diving horse in the Royal American Hippodrome circus. A pretty 17-year-old red-head as daring as she is good looking is atop the wonder horse when the animal leaps from the top of a 40-foot tower into a pool of water.

It's the biggest and best midway that ever hit the prairie west . . . there will be fat girls, midget acrobats, singers, dancers, minstrel performers, flying trapeze artists, circus stars of the wire, high pole performers and other favorite attractions in addition to the sensational new features.

Tilley Predicts Big Increase In Govt. Revenues

FREDERICTON, N.S., July 11.—In announcing that he and his government would resign office tomorrow, Premier L. P. D. Tilley early today issued a statement in which he predicted the revenue of the province would show a considerable increase over the estimates submitted at the last session of the legislature.

An increase of about $100,000 would be shown in the gasoline tax; $50,000 in motor vehicle fees and more than $90,000 in succession duties, he thought.

THOUSANDS OF FARMERS WILL ATTEND FAIR

Thousands of farmers will make Edmonton a temporary home next week when the annual Exhibition will be in full swing.

Edmonton has for years, been, not only the capital of Alberta but also the hub of the richest agricultural district in the province. From the Red Deer River valley to the rich golden prairies of the Peace River district are farmlands which form the chief source of wealth in this province.

V. A. PORTER

As it is the soil that gives Edmonton her life blood it follows that the annual exhibition is chiefly a meeting place of country and city.

The farmer goes to the fair to gain knowledge of the most advanced methods of tilling and harvesting his crops and more often for the purpose of purchasing new equipment, which will make farming easier and more profitable.

One place that the modern-minded agriculturist will not fail to pay a visit is the showrooms and warehouses of the International Harvester of Canada Ltd., situated in up-to-date brick buildings covering almost an entire city block at 109 St. and 104 Ave.

LATEST IN MACHINERY

There he will be shown by competent and courteous employes of the company the latest in all kinds of farming machinery, from cream separators to combines, that make life more pleasurable and the business of farming more gainful.

The International Harvester of Canada Ltd. is one of the largest wholesale distributors of farm machinery and heavy-duty trucks in the west. The business has expanded year by year over a period of 25 years, until the company was forced to build two huge, four story buildings to house its wares.

WITH FIRM SINCE 1902

V. A. Porter, present manager of the Edmonton branch, has been with the company since 1902, when he started as a lowly office worker in an eastern branch office. He came here as assistant manager in 1913 and was appointed manager in 1919.

A feature of the Edmonton plant is the modern garage, for servicing and housing new trucks. It is one of the best-equipped garages in all of Canada.

"During the years of depression trucks have been one of the bright spots in the business outlook of our company. This business has been growing by leaps and bounds," Mr. Porter stated.

BRIGHTEST FUTURE

The head of the Edmonton branch looks upon the territory from Red Deer north as one having the brightest future of any in western Canada.

In 1921 the International company celebrated a century of progress, being founded in 1831.

Farmers will be assured of a fine welcome as well as a profitable experience if they visit the International company warehouse during Exhibition week.

Great Many Necessary To Place Awards In All Classes

A great many judges are necessary to place the awards in all classes at the Edmonton Exhibition. Shoemaker will decide which are the prize winning plants and cut flowers; R. H. Settle will judge the threshed grains, and Professor Sackville will pass upon the fleece wool exhibits.

All told, over fifty judges will be necessary to place the awards in all classes.

New Baby Bond By-Law Passed By Vancouver

VANCOUVER, July 11—The city council Wednesday passed a new "baby bond" bylaw designed to circumvent objections to a previous bylaw under which more than $1,000,000 was subscribed for building of a permanent city hall and a public works programme.

The previously passed bylaw has been attacked on the grounds the debentures are charged against water rates and a ratepayer obtained an interim injunction against the city disposing of the issue to the public until trial of its validity in court.

The new bylaw provides for equal amortization of the bonds and removes the clauses charging the debentures to water rates.

Jobless Decrease

BERLIN, July 11. — Germany's unemployed have decreased by 142,000 since May, according to figures published here today. The number is now put at 1,877,000.

BADEN-POWELL LEAVES CANADA

SAINT JOHN, N.B., July 11.—Regret at leaving Canada, and pleasure because the Boy Scout and Girl Guide movement "is now on a footing for further expansion to extend its influence over the under privileged youth of the country" were expressed here last night by Lord Baden-Powell, Chief Scout, in a farewell message to Canada.

At Boston the 78-year-old Scout leader will join Lady Baden-Powell, Chief Guide, and his daughter, Hon. Betty Another daughter, Hon. Heather, is accompanying Lord Baden-Powell. Their last public appearance in the Dominion was made Friday in Charlottetown, P.E.I.

Dr. Robb Named Tory Candidate

MASSEY, Ont., July 11—Dr. J. M. Robb, Ontario minister of health in the Henry administration, was named Conservative candidate in the federal election in East Algoma riding Wednesday.

While not definately accepting the nomination, it was thought likely Dr. Robb would contest the riding left vacant by the death of Geo. B. Nicholson, Chapleau.

A. A. Wishart, Blind River lawyer, was chosen to run should Dr. Robb decide to retire from politics.

1,000,000 MORE PASSENGERS — THE INCREASE CARRIED BY NORTH AMERICAN BUS LINES . . . IN 1934

Every Passenger Is Insured

TRAVEL By BUS

WEEK-END EXCURSIONS TO ALBERTA'S RESORTS

Improved Highways Combine with the Latest Motor Equipment to make 1935 the Greatest Year of Bus Transportation in History

The Modern Travel Way

- COMFORT
- ECONOMY
- SAFETY

To fully appreciate the tremendous stride in the progress of bus transportation . . . one need only compare the bus line of a few years ago with the highly efficient network that is now serving every important centre of the North American Continent. Rapid and comfortable transportation over the nations surfaced highways, combined with a standard of service unexcelled has been rewarded by the universal and continent-wide choice of the traveling public.

Nothing has been overlooked in the marvelous modern way of transportation — even your local bus line is connected with 14,000 points on the continent. This enables you to buy your ticket to any important destination from your own line and travel to all parts of the United States or Canada, at great savings.

Special scenic excursion routes have been carefully mapped out, touching North America's most beautiful vacation spots from coast to coast. Here's new travel thrills: modernly equipped, regularly inspected buses . . . courteous service by veteran chauffeurs . . . liberal stopovers . . . scenic highway routes . . . comfortable reclining chairs . . . wide windows that may be opened for cool riding as you breeze along on warm days . . . healthful, circulating heat to keep you comfortable in cold weather . . . all these, modern bus systems have combined into motor coach travel to make your trip one of carefree enjoyment at low cost. And . . . when you travel by bus you travel FIRST CLASS . . . another reason why more people choose the bus than any other means of public transportation.

EQUIPMENT . . .

Undergoes Rigid Inspection After Every Run . . .

Even the unusual dreadnaught construction and mechanism of the modern new monsters of the highway does not influence this safety measure. Bus companies take unusual precautions — painstaking inspection is tendered every piece of equipment before and after every run. Springs, wheels, brakes, steering apparatus, etc., is rigidly gone over. The passengers' safety, first, last and always.

BUS DRIVERS . . .

Undergo Extensive Training and Must Have Perfect Eyesight and Hearing.

An unusual type of men, these motor bus operators; carefully selected for their smart, alert, courteous qualifications — each and every one must pass the rigid test for perfect eyesight and hearing enforced by motor bus regulations — their extensive training covers every angle that makes up an efficient transporting system, that has so rapidly gained such popular continent-wide confidence.

Riel Rebellion Celebration For Summer Fair

Exhibition Board To Honor Veterans On Tuesday, July 16

No Fewer Than 34 Veterans Who Took Part in The Actual Fighting to Be on Hand.

Set aside by directors of the Edmonton Exhibition Association to honor veterans of the Riel Rebellion of 1885, Tuesday, July 16 promises to be one of the most outstanding, colorful and memorable days in a week of gayety, hilarity and jollity.

J. A. McCool, secretary of the Northern Alberta Pioneers and Old Timers Association is co-operating to the utmost with the Exhibition Association to make the day a genuine, unusual success and present indications are that this will come about.

So far Mr. McCool has definitely recorded no fewer than 34 veterans who took part in the actual fighting.

BRING BOB ARMSTRONG

Mr. McCool stated that efforts were being made to have present at the gathering Bob Armstrong, of Gleichen, who was the man who actually brought Riel to army headquarters. Mr. Armstrong is now 87 years old and from reports is enjoying good health.

In connection with this grand reunion and celebration, Mr. McCool states that the Old Timers will have a section in the parade, in which there will be an old stage coach, a victoria, a brougham as well as buckboards, covered wagons and other vehicles peculiar to the times.

The Riel rebellion veterans will take part in the parade and in all likelihood will ride on a tally-ho.

GUESTS AT DINNER

They will be guests of the Exhibition Association at dinner immediately after dispersal of the parade.

Mrs. Minnie Le Lacheur will be in charge of the dinner and those serving will be western girls born in 1885.

Following the dinner, the Vets will be entertained at the Old Timers' cabin by the Exhibition Association. At 7 p.m. the exhibition directors will entertain the Vets at dinner and at 7:45 p.m. there will be a public reception from the platform in front of the grandstand with the likelihood of Premier R. G. Reid delivering and address of welcome.

DECORATION OF VETS

An outstanding feature of the day will be the decoration of the Vets with peace medals, a momento donated by the Old Timers and the Exhibition Association.

His Honor Lt.-Gov. W. L. Walsh will make the presentation of medals, which will commemorate 50 years of peace between the white man and the Indian, as the last fighting between the two took place in the 1885 uprising.

The medals are slightly oval with maple leaves on the sides and a beaver on top. In the centre is a drawing of a Red River cart, set in 14 karat gold.

Behind the cart is the setting sun depicting the ever-westward trek of the settlers.

There will be a blue and gold ribbon for each medal—the Old Timers colors and each medal will bear the recipients name engraved thereon.

TOUR OF MIDWAY

If the Vets are still "game" to go after they witness the evening performance in front of the grandstand, they will be guests of the Exhibition Association in a tour of the midway.

The Old Timers' Association women's committee for the day is under the direction of two native-born daughters, Mrs. Robert Turnbull of South Edmonton and Mrs. John Harrold of Sturgeon.

Manager

P. W. ABBOTT, K.C., general manager of the Edmonton Exhibition.

STOCK ENTRIES WILL BE BEST FAIR HISTORY

Outstanding Animals From All Parts of Canada to Be Shown

List of livestock entries for the 1935 Edmonton exhibition reveals that the cream of Alberta horses, cattle, poultry, swine, sheep and caged birds will be on display here from July 13 to 20. Outstanding entries from all parts of Canada will supplement Alberta offerings.

Officials state that entries to date correspond favorably with last year's lists and say that 1935 showings will probably be of a higher quality than any previous year.

THOROUGHBRED HORSES

Among outstanding thoroughbred horses on display will be Nikki's Blende, owned by Luscombe and Williams; Silent Beauty, owned by Collins and Nobbs, and Ballotta and Audrey S., with this year's foals, owned by Weiller and Williams. Entries in standard breds division have been made by Collins and Nobbs, McDonald and McDermid, and F. E. Dynes. W. J. Burns and Margaret Gemmell will show in the hackneys class.

Showing in grades class will be John A. Nichols and Mrs. Nichols, Keswick Stock Farms, Margaret H. Gemmell, W. H. Fulkerth, L. Maxfield and W. E. Pinley, Mrs. W. Nobbs, C. Morton, E. H. Burrows, and others. Roadsters will be displayed by W. J. Burns, Dr. W. A. Wilson, F. E. Dynes and W. J. Fulkerth.

Entries have been exceedingly numerous for carriage, hunting, saddle and jumping horse divisions. Outstanding jumpers already entered are Scotsman, Peggy and Skyline.

CAVALRY CLASSES

Winners of 1933 and 1934 Claxton cavalry trophies, V. Greening of the Legion of Frontiersmen and Constable J. Bible of the Edmonton police force have again entered the event. As entries do not close until exhibition week for this particular competition, further entries are expected.

Heavy horses divisions will be displayed. Breeds will be Clydesdale, Percheron, Belgians and grade heavy draft and agricultural horses. Entries have been numerous for all.

Various classes for cattle are as follows: Shorthorns, dual purpose Shorthorns, Herefords, Aberdeen Angus, Ayershires, Holsteins, Jerseys and Guerneys, as well as grade cows. Shropshire, Oxford, Hampshire, Suffolk, South down and grade type sheep will be exhibited.

Swine on display will be Yorkshires, Tamworth and vacant types.

A particularly fine showing of poultry and caged birds has been arranged but they will be on display only on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of Exhibition week. All other entries will be on display for the entire week with the exception of Saturday.

President

J. M. DOUGLAS, who is president of the Edmonton Exhibition.

Hand Mangled In Sawmill Planer

RIMBEY, July 11—When a wrench with which he was adjusting a sawmill planer slipped, N. E. Gray, of Carlos, had his hand caught in the planer and mangled so that it had to be amputated. He was planer at the Lawton Brothers' sawmill, five miles west of Leedale post office. Drs. J. N. C. and S. J. Byers did the amputation in St. Paul's hospital, where the patient was conveyed by truck over a distance of 21 miles.

PARADE WILL BE FEATURE LOCAL FAIR

Forty Floats, 13 Bands, Scouts, Guides Will Take Part

Forty fully-decorated floats, 13 bands, horsemen, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides—all these will take part in the mammoth summer fair parade which will move off from the intersection of Jasper avenue and 121 street promptly at 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday, July 16, the second day of the Edmonton Exhibition. Douglas Grout, manager of the parade committee, announced Saturday that plans had been completed for this novel feature and stressed the fact that the column would move off right on time.

Entries for the parade closed at 12 o'clock noon sharp on Monday, July 8.

COLORFUL SCENE

One of the largest ever staged in this city, the fair parade will be two and a half miles in length and will take one hour to pass any point. Colorful in the extreme, the column will present a spectacle rarely seen in Edmonton.

An interesting feature of this event will be two floats entered by the Chinese businessmen of this city and which will carry Orientals in full native costume. Mr. Grout states that one of these floats will be decorted with $1,000 worth of silk.

Two hundred and seventy Edmonton musicians will comprise the bands supplying music for the parade.

MOUNTED SECTION

A mounted section will take part, riders being drawn from the 19th Alberta Dragoons, Legion of Frontiersmen and local saddle clubs. Others in the parade will include Boy Scout and Girl Guide units, the mayor and members of city council, Edmonton Exhibition Association directors, Old Timers' Association, and veterans of the Riel Rebellion.

His Honor Lieut.-Gov. W. L. Walsh will be at the head of the column. Sections of the parade will be lined up on side streets between 115 and 121 streets between Victoria and Jasper avenue, and as the head of the column moves off from 121 street the various divisions will join the main body as it moves east on Jasper avenue.

ROUTE OF PARADE

The route of the parade follows: From 121 street east on Jasper avenue to 95 street, west on Jasper from 95 street to 101 street, and north to the C.N.R. station, where the parade will break up.

Special arrangements have been made by the city police and street railway departments to prevent any hitches in the event. Street cars will be held up for a few minutes at certain points and policemen will keep the parade route as clear of parked cars as possible so that spectators may receive an unobstructed view.

Life Member

W. R. WEST, oldtimer of the Edmonton district, and life member of the Exhibition, who will again be in attendance at this year's fair.

Let An... Electric Range

Free You from Cookery Tasks

Electric Cooking is clean — it's surprisingly easy too, for an Electric Range will watch your cooking just as closely as you can yourself. Cooking starts — and cooking stops — exactly when it should, even when you're out of the kitchen or out of the house.

The extra conveniences of an Electric Range are part of every woman's "Dream House". Make it a reality this year in yours.

The Story of a Dream House

You've joined it together from books that you've read and other homes you have seen; you've taken the best ideas and have adapted them and re-adapted them to your personal dream of what a real and perfect home should be like. You've pictured it, you've planned it, you've put a little money aside perhaps, so that some day you can have it — this dream house of yours.

Perhaps you plan to built it outright—renovate the old one — or just rent one as near to your ideal as possible. But regardless of which way it will be — you can still make that house your "Dream House", by the thoughtful use of Electricity — and modern Electrical Appliances.

They will eliminate a large part of the housework — and make the rest so much easier to do; keep your home cleaner, smarter, brighter — and a far more comfortable, more pleasant place in which to live.

Modern electrical appliances will give you many hours of leisure you would not otherwise be able to enjoy — hours of play which would be hours of work if you did not have the low-cost assistance of Electricity — the "Modern Genii".

Make electricity your servant — in every room of your house. It's instantly at your command—every hour of the day or night—ready to make the house in which you live your "Dream House" — perfect, wonderfully real.

Electrical Appliances, in the sizes and models to meet exactly the requirements of your home, can be purchased today on such easy payments that they pay for themselves while you use them — pay for themselves in time saved, in labor saved, and in actual household expenses eliminated.

Keeping the Family Fit is much easier with an Electric Refrigerator

Food plays the most important part in keeping the family fit. But only PURE food can maintain their health—food that is absolutely free from the slightest danger of contamination. An Electric Refrigerator is your safest guarantee of food protection. Maintaining a steady even cold — it keeps fresh foods fresh, crisp and tasty. It keeps bargain foods exactly as you buy them, thus enabling you to save money on special prices without risk of your savings being wasted.

An electric refrigerator saves you many hours of cooking as well — for refrigerator dishes are so easy and simple to make — and they are really smart to serve, delicious too, when days are stifling hot.

An Electric Refrigerator is really a necessity—especially in those homes where the family's health is considered worth while.

CALGARY POWER COMPANY

Hon. C. P. Fullerton Will Officially Open Exhibition

CITY'S FIRST FAIR HELD IN FORT IN 1879

Consisted Chiefly of Displays of Grains and Vegetables

Held in the Hudson Bay fort in 1879, Edmonton's first exhibition consisted chiefly of displays of grains and vegetables.

The affair was sponsored by the Edmonton Agricultural Society which sought to prove that produce of the Edmonton district was of an equally high if not higher quality than that of the Prince Albert and "Little Saskatchewan" districts.

NEWSPAPER ACCOUNTS

A newspaper account of the exhibition states: "The attendance was very large, causing the Fort to assume an unusually business-like aspect, but many ladies were unfortunately kept away by the threatening aspect of the weather.

"The show of grain was unfortunately small, and the quality was not nearly as good as it ought to have been. This was partly due to the rather late harvest, but more particularly to the fact that only one or two farmers had threshed.

"We have only two threshing machines in this neighborhood, and both are of small power and constantly out of repair."

HELD IN FALL

The fair was held in the fall "in order that the grain might be threshed, and as a result many of the vegetables on display were beginning to sprout and some had even gone to seed."

Ladies competed in the exhibition with displays of work in silk, wool and leather.

Available funds for the event amounted to $323 and of this sum only $173 was offered as prize money, the remainder being set aside for seed purchase for the following year. First prizes of $10 for each of the leading grains—wheat, oats and barley—constituted the "Governor's Prizes," and were presented by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor.

After the first exhibition was over, officials decided to hold the next one earlier in the season provided "additional machinery for threshing the grain was brought in from the east."

That first officers little realized the extent to which their venture would expand is evidenced by their report of the first fair.

Mayor Clarke Will Introduce Notable In Front Of Stand

Many Civic and Provincial Dignitaries to Take Part In Opening Ceremonies.

With the Hon. C. P. Fullerton, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Canadian National Railways coming to Edmonton to open the Exhibition, the city's big annual six day summer holiday will get off to a flying start.

The railway head will be introduced by Mayor Joseph Clarke, in the true friendly Clarke-ian style. His Worship will present an especially prepared address.

On the platform in front of the grandstand with Edmonton's Headman and the Hon. C. P. Fullerton will be the Hon. George Hoadley, minister of health, Premier R. G. Reid, P. W. Abbott, K.C., manager of the Edmonton Exhibition, His Honor Lieutenant Governor W. L. Walsh, and other city and provincial dignitaries.

FASCINATING REVUE

The gaiety and romance of super grandstand attractions, the beautiful blondies, brunettes and red heads that go to make up the eye-pleasing personel of the colorful revue, "Fascinations of 1935," will form the background for the official dom on the platform.

Opening ceremonies will be relayed to the crowd through a public address system.

"Fascinations of 1935" carries more stars than there are in the sky. Stars of Paris' "Follies Bergere," featured players from Chicago's Oriental Gardens where Floyd Town and his "Men About Town" held forth before they moved to Harry's New York Cabaret and from National 60 Columbia chain radio with their dance music; stars from Chicago's Century of Progress and from New York's famous Hollywood Restaurant where the Abe Lyman and Rudy Vallee coaxed dancers onto the floor.

Dorothy and Don Dade, stars of the Casino de Paree the famous theatre-cabaret of Broadway are featured in the "Fascinations." Those thrilling dancers performed too before World Fair crowds in Chicago's Oriental Gardens. The Dades rate highly in the "Fascinations" which will be presented in five scenes, rapid fire trapeze and vaudeville acts filling in between.

Another of the "Fascinations" highlights will be the "Ballet Moderne" the dances and costumes of which are patterned after the new European vogue which proved such a sensation at the Radio City Music Hall in New York the past winter season.

Prima Donna of the spectacular musical production is Oliva Johnson, famous musical comedy, operatic and radio singer. Miss Johnson's sparkling soprano voice has been heard in New York, London and Paris and has carried leading parts in Schubert's "Artists and Models," "Night in Spain," "Blossom Time," "New Moon," "The Vagabond King," "La Tosca" and "La Boheme." In the latter two productions she was the prima donna.

APPEAR TWICE DAILY

Scheduled to appear twice daily before the grandstand crowds is the Laizeo Troupe, separate altogether from the featured presentation of "Fascinations of 1935." The Laizee Troupe is the largest of the Arabian acts touring the continent.

Colorfully garbed in native costumes, these whirlwinds of the desert tumble about the stage in bewildering fashion and form odd looking designs with novel body formations. Featured in their spectacular act is an endurance contest in long distance tumbling.

MAGIC HOUSE TO ATTRACT FAIR CROWDS

Seeing sound, hearing light and enjoying the hidden beauties of "Black Light" will be among the sensations experienced by visitors to the Edmonton Exhibition when they see the demonstrations in the House of Magic conducted by Dr. H. T. Plumb of the General Electric Company.

"The Electric Eye" one of the newest developments in the field of electricity will be demonstrated by Dr. Plumb using the sun's rays to ring an alarm clock, start an electric fan and opening heavy doors.

The stroboscope which makes motion appear to stand still is also another new experience in store for the patrons of the House of Magic.

"Black Light", the light which is invisible to the human eye, is the carrier of the ultra violet and infra red rays and Dr. Plumb will use certain chemicals to transform this Black Light into visible light.

The House of Magic should be one of the most popular shows at the Exhibition.

Opens Fair

HON. C. P. FULLERTON, chairman of the board of trustees Canadian National Railways, who will officially open the 1935 Edmonton Exhibition.

DADES FEATURE AT EXHIBITION

The Dades, Dorothy and Don, featured dancers in "Fascinations of 1935," a musical show of modern trend, engaged to appear nightly as the main attraction before the grandstand at the Edmonton Exhibition, will present three styles of dancing—Spanish, ballroom and acrobatic—that brought them fame and favor at Chicago's Century of Progress where they were featured for months at the Oriental Gardens.

No team of dancers won greater favor with the World Fair visitors than the Dades. Their popularity grew steadily as the closing date of the big show grew near, and it is doubtful if any dancers among the hundreds engaged by the Century of Progress scored the success the Dades enjoyed.

INTEREST IN ART EXHIBIT

One of the most outstanding features of the Edmonton Exhibition of 1935 will be the art loan show, the displaying of which has been made possible by the National Gallery at Ottawa. The exhibit will present the work of every school of art in Great Britain today, including the academic style as well as others of more modern trend.

Included in this notable art exhibit is a most extensive showing of photography from the Canadian International Salon as arranged for the National Gallery of Canada by the Camera Club of Ottawa. The assembling and arranging of this exhibit was made by a jury of selection consisting of Bruce Metcalfe, John Helders, F.R.P.S., and V. M. Johnston, A.R.P.S.

In making this outstanding art exhibit available to the Edmonton Exhibition, the National Gallery's desire is to foster and extend interest in fine art in Canada, which may lead to valuable additions and contributions to the art of the Dominion and the formation of a Canadian Photographic Society.

Under the direction of Mrs. David Bowman, the art exhibit will be housed in the agricultural building on the fair grounds.

Quick Transport For Diesel Motor

To illustrate how the air has brought the North to Edmonton's back door, Mr. Christmas, Edmonton Manager of The Waterous Ltd., plant, stated that a rush order put through for a Tangye Diesel resulted in the engine leaving Birmingham, England, on the 5th June. It reached Edmonton on the 14th June, where it was assembled at the Waterous plant and is being carried to Fort Smith by air, where it is expected it will arrive by the 26th June. This engine weighs 1350 lbs. It was ordered for the Northern Transportation Co. Ltd., well known northern carriers.

PROFIT TAKING BEARS HEAVILY ON STOCK MART

NEW YORK, July 11—The stock market reversed itself today as profit taking appeared in more than usual volume. Some of the alcohols, metals and chain stores bucked the trend, but favorites of the past few weeks backed up fractions to 2 or more points. The close was heavy. Transfers approximated 1,000,000 shares.

KING'S GOOD WISHES SENT TOURING CANADIAN ELEVEN

LONDON, July 11.—Good wishes from the king were tendered the team of Canadian schoolboy cricketers, from colleges and private schools, now touring England, at a luncheon given the boys by the Hudson's Bay Company. Lord Tweedsmuir, governor-general-designate of Canada, admitting he belonged "to a barbarous country where cricket is hardly played—Scotland," said he hoped to bring Canada through cricket into closer partnership in interimperial sport.

PATS and PANS by BILL LEWIS

ONE of the big farces in amateur sport in Canada today is the Ontario Athletic Commission, a body you may—or may not—know very much about. . . W. M. Gladish, in a brief story appearing elsewhere in these columns, claims that this organization assessed various Ontario sports groups and promoters $230,000 this past June, as compared to $80,000 in the same month of 1934.

Mr. Gladish is one who should know what he is talking about. . . . For many years he was connected with the autocratic Amateur Athletic Union of Canada—and you know what that means. . . . He knew every wrinkle concerning amateur sport; that is, from the inside, at least. . . . Thus, when he decides to make a statement that a government tax is a blow to amateur sport, there is little doubt but that he may be right.

THE Commission, fundamentally, has the right idea. . . . It is a government-appointed body which taxes paying sports to provide for non-paying athletics, the

Ralph Butler Pounds Out Two-Base Hit, Winning Game in Eighth

PONOKA, July 11.—In a game of many errors Ponoka Panthers squeezed out a 5-4 victory over the Edmonton Shasta Royals.

Ralph Butler, Ponoka's star catcher, was called from the dugout in the last of the eighth to pinch-hit with two men on bases. Pounding Buck Eaton's first thrown ball for a two-base hit, Butler scored Meyers and Hodges, giving Ponoka a one-run victory.

Panthers opened the count in the third when Cecil Lewis walked, stole second and then scored on Malles' single. Charlie Lewis, the next man up, hit a spectacular home run to score Malles and himself, gaining a three run lead for his club.

The fourth frame put Ponoka in the hole as the Shasta Royals scored four runs with only a one base hit being made, seven errors by the Panthers is the answer for this running spree by the visitors.

Reynolds, Robinson and Williamson reached first on errors while Horn got a one base hit. All four scored on errors by the Ponoka club.

Royals held this one run lead till the last of the eighth when Ponoka counted two. Meyers singled and reached second on Hodges' walk. Ralph Butler hobbled to the plate with a sprained ankle and got a two base hit to bring in the winning runs.

Ponoka played two men short as Ralph Butler has a sprained ankle and Eddie Crellin a broken elbow bone. Clint Hodges' prominent Rubber player relieved Butler behind the plate.

Ponoka next meet Wetaskiwin here on Sunday.

William Bowes Replaces Clark

LONDON, July 11.—William E. Bowes, Yorkshire bowler, Wednesday was invited by the English selection committee to replace the injured Edward W. MAX' HANDS NOT BROKEN, SAYS DOCTOR

Baer Leaves Hospital as Examination Shows Fists Okay

BALTIMORE, July 11.—With a doctor's report that his hands were not broken and would be ready for a fight in September, Max Baer left Baltimore last night for New York after again asserting things are all right between him and his recent bride.

The X-ray examination of his left hand by Dr. William F. Reinhoff, Jr., at the Johns Hopkins Hospital here showed that no bones were broken but that the tendons are inflamed and that a condition similar to water on the knee or "tennis elbow" exists.

Dr. Reinhoff told the former champion he never should have fought James J. Braddock, who won the title, with his hands in their present condition.

No operation will be necessary to correct the condition.

Baer, in a signed, copyrighted story in the Baltimore News and Post, termed "exaggerated and untrue" reports there is a rift in his romance with Mary Ellen Sullivan, the girl he married 10 days ago.

"The wild stories which came out of New York last night were the result of a publicity-seeking stunt by someone in a restaurant. It isn't true that I said my romance was on the rocks."

Crush Ball Nine Seeking Another Baseball Victory

Orange Crush girls will be seeking their 10th straight victory at the expense of the Army and Navy nine who they meet in an encounter at the City Girls' Baseball league at Boyle Street this evening at 6:30.

In their last meeting the Crushites just barely managed to nose out the decision over the store girls, being compelled to come from behind with a rally in the late innings.

Since that encounter the Army and Navy girls romped to an impressive triumph over the E.C.D. nine and they feel certain that they will take their opponents tonight. As the Crush girls are also coming on a win a real battle should be produced before a decision is reached.

Surprise Setback Of Bellamy-Stott Is Day's Feature

Pairings of Last Eight in Men's Open Singles Are Decided After Play Wednesday—Women's Events Advance

Defeat of the fancied seeded men's doubles team of Bellamy-Stott by the young team of Purcell-Edmunds at 6-2, 6-3, provided the sensation of the annual Edmonton and District Tennis Championships on Wednesday. Strongly favored to go a long way, the Bellamy-Stott duo could not overcome the hard-slogging game of their opponents.

Events were narrowed down considerably as a result of Wednesday's play and all have reached the "eights," while some of the semi-finalists have been determined.

HERE IS DRAW IN MEN'S SINGLES

In the men's open singles the last eight will be paired as follows: Kinloch vs. Moher; Harrison vs. McIntosh; Purcell vs. Edwards; Goddard vs. McMahon.

Moher gained his eights place by a splendid win over Fred J. Mitchell, former city and provincial champion, at 3-6, 6-1, Purcell filled his bracket by defeating Fred Robinson at 6-4, 6-2, the latter having accounted for F. E. Brissette the previous day.

Red McMahon fought his way to the eights by eliminating Bobby Adamson at 6-8, 6-0, 6-4. Adamson won fame on Monday by eliminating F. C. Casselman. Other "eights" brackets had been filled on Tuesday.

Kinloch will face Moher at Glenora at 5:45 p.m. today and at the same court at 6 p.m. Harrison will tangle with McIntosh. The other two "eights" matches, Purcell vs. Edwards and Goddard vs. McMahon will be played at Civil Service commencing at 5:30 p.m.

ENTER SEMI-FINALS

Harrison and McIntosh smashed their way into the semi-final of the open men's doubles by a double victory, first defeating Casselman-Giffen in sequence love sets and then setting back Thumath-Cook at 6-3, 6-1.

In defeating Bellamy-Stott, the strong due of Purcell-Edmonds also reached the semi-final.

Kinloch-Oliver advanced to the eights by overcoming Dochterty-Manning at 6-3, 6-3 and tonight will meet the smashing Mitchell-Esau team for the right to pass into the semi-final.

A brotherly affair took place on another court when the Brothers Goddard, Stan and Fraser, defeated the brothers Adamson, Bobby and Peter, at 6-3, 6-2.

The women's singles and mixed doubles also have reached the semi-final stage.

OUTSTANDING TILT

The outstanding match of the day was the men's open singles between Stan Moher and Fred Mitchell.

The two had met in the semi-final of the Glenora club tournament a year ago and Moher had been returned the winner. The gallery wondered if he could repeat.

In the first set Moher opened up strongly and instead of playing a hard-hitting game, he elected to play Mitchell at his own game, chopping and dashing in to volley. This strategy carried him through to a 5-1 lead in the first set. With this lead and at 40-0 on his own service, Moher faltered. He outed one, then double faulted and after a rally, Mitchell passed him at the net, to deuce the game. After some exchanges, Mitchell ran out the game and then pulled another from the fire before Moher got home at 7-5.

In the second set, Mitchell made a magnificent stand, calling on the experience gained over many years of tournament play. He weakened Moher's attack and applied heavy pressure behind this drive, he squared the match by taking the second set at 6-3.

MOHER'S FINE RALLY

Mitchell's attack then gave out. Fighting with dogged determination, he put forth gallant efforts to maintain his rally. But Moher came back strong and ran out into a 5-0 lead. Here Mitchell braced once more and won one game. But Moher then ran out the next game for the match.

It was a splendidly-played affair, with both players using a wide variety of strokes and giving a fine demonstration of good-natured, calculating play that gave ample testimony on behalf of their consummate tennis capacity.

Below are Wednesday's results and Thursday's draw:

WALT HAGEN LEADS FIELD OPENING DAY

By W. R. WHEATLEY

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., July 11.—With a par-busting 68, Walter Hagen of Detroit Wednesday showed the way for the 210 aspirants for unofficial Canadian open championship golf title at the General Brock hotel open tournament.

The Haig was hot from the starting tee. He was out in 34, one under par, and home in the same figures, a remarkable performance since par for the course has been cut from 73 to 70 for the Dominion's richest prize tournament.

Little short of Hagen's exhibition was that of Leo Diegel, of Chilmont, Pa., four times Canadian open champion, who out on a brief practice round shot a 32 for the first nine holes and called it a day, three under par.

Art Hunt, the pro from St. David's, Ontario, put on a home-coming splurge that brought him a 69 for the tricky course and shot him in line for the thousand dollar major prize money.

McLarnin To Wed Old Sweetheart At Coast Tonight

Foromer Welter Champion Weds Lillian Cupit In Home City

VANCOUVER, July 11.—Jimmy McLarnin, twice welterweight champion of the world, and Miss Lillian Cupit, his Vancouver childhood sweetheart, will be married quietly this evening. Only members of the respective families will be present.

"Pop" Foster, who piloted Jimmy from a gangling kid to the fight top, will be best man.

"I've had more than my share of ballyhoo," said Jimmy, in finally admitting the guarded secret of the coming wedding.

"It is our own affair and I want to avoid all this rice and shoe-throwing. It is no occasion for a charivari. Just two people getting married."

Immediately after the ceremony the McLarnins will start on a honeymoon by land, air and sea, with Honolulu the ultimate destination.

Plans for regaining the welterweight title from Barney Ross will probably limit the honeymoon to two months.

Jimmy will continue to fight, he said. "Why shouldn't I? It's my business. I should be a better man now because there will be two of us."

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Cupit and is a graduate of the University of British Columbia. She has been teaching school while Jimmy has been fighting.

The two will make their home in Vancouver.

North Edmonton Meets Grit Team In Game Friday

North Edmonton will be out to deadlock second place with Army and Navy Grits when these two teams clash in a scheduled game of the Junior Baseball League at Boyle St. Friday evening.

Grits, unable to get underway last Monday, will be out to square the records against North Edmonton for that trimming they took from the Safeway nine.

For the Grits either Carl Loblick, Gordie Watt or Rusty Wynn will be throwing with Aldridge receiving. North Edmonton will probably use Tougas, who has had several days of good rest.

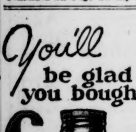

CALGARY GIRLS STILL UNBEATEN

OTTAWA, July 11.—Dorothy and Ruby Roberts, crafty Calgary shotmakers, went undefeated through the third day of the Ontario tennis championships.

In the women's doubles they reached the third round by defeating Miss Davis and Miss Villeneuve of Ottawa in two sizzling sets, 6-0, 6-2.

Paired with Bill Craig of Ottawa, Dorothy won the first of her mixed doubles matches by defeating Jean MacLean and McLachlin of Ottawa, 6-3, 6-3, while her sister reached the second round with Fisher, Toronto, by defeating Cousson and Norcross of Ottawa, 6-3, 6-2.

EMPIRE CLUB CLOSE VICTOR OVER GIBBONS

Pound Out 5-4 Decision in Big Four League Game Wednesday Night

Blasting Clark James' offerings for four runs in a third-inning hitting spree, Empire hotel nine managed to keep in front throughout the remaining innings to gain a 5-4 decision over Gibbons in their Big Four engagement at Boyle street last night.

It was the hotelmen's seventh victory of the season and increased their hold on the league leadership to four and a half games. Gibbons by the loss enabled York hotel to move into a tie with them for second place.

Empires took a one-run lead in the second inning, when Jim Kelly after reaching first on a single to left field stole second and came home when McKernan muffed Cruthers' grounder to first.

INNING THAT TOLD

It was in the third inning that they chalked up their margin of victory. Eddie Dixon started things with a single to first. He stole second and went to third when Hague grounded out to McKernan. Brant then drove him in with a double to left. Brant advanced to third when McMillan singled and romped home on a passed ball. McMillan stole second, went to third on a passed ball and home on Kelly went out at first. Gillies completed the rally with a double to left field and scampered around to home on McNelly's error.

The visitors made a desperate rally during the remaining frames, but only managed to score four runs. They counted twice in the fifth, once in the sixth and once in the eighth.

CALLIES COP 5-2 TRIUMPH OVER ROYALS

Younger Eleven Gives a Hard Battle in Fine Fixture

Norwood Royals made it a sturdy struggle before they finally bowed before the more experienced Callies by a 5-2 score at Diamond Park last night. The game, a scheduled encounter of the senior soccer league, was well played throughout.

For the first 20 minutes Royals held the Scots well under control, but the Callies finally broke into the scoring when Mike Fraser tallied. A few minutes later Norwood tied the count as Abbott got a beauty but five minutes from half time F. Bennett placed Callies ahead.

Callies started the second half in great style, Sharplin scoring soon after the restart. Poor finishing by the Royals made them miss many fine chances.

Royals never gave up and got another as Abbott again scored.

F. Bennett tallied the remaining Callie goals on nice efforts.

Comment

Well, that's two section champs determined. And what struggles! a seething mass of wildeyed fans who will be hoarse for days.

In both games the losers came within an ace of landing on top. At the North West fixture W. W. Sales drew walks in the very first frame and with the odd hit sent across three men for a run. Then they settled down to hold it but the fourth was the fatal inning when errors and long hits combined to give the Four X men six runs while clouted hits in the sixth and seventh brought five more counters necessary for the one run margin. It was a great game, no fooling.

An early lead for the Snowflake Laundry nine almost demolished the Young Tories in their epic struggle at the Exhibition grounds but like safe singles in the succeeding frames sent the Tories ahead by one run. Then in the ninth Snowflake got men on second and third with none down and it looked to be a rout but this drive was taken off with only one man crossing the plate but the count was tied when Mrs. Campbell crew went to bat. The game was soon decided however as Reid singled, Montgomery got to first on an overthrow and Reid galloped in on the home play.

South Side Athletics took a 10-4 decision from Hooper's Drug at King Edward Park on Tuesday night in their first game of the section playoff. Bunched hits in the middle three innings did the trick while the Drugstore nine could only score single runs spread out through the game.

THURSDAY'S GAMES

Hooper's Drug vs South Side Athletics at King Edward Park.

Grierson Service vs Del Sarto at Golf Links.

Recreations vs Trudeaus at Mc-Donald Bay Athletic Field in Beverly.

All games called for seven o'clock.

Trap Shooting

Edmonton Gun Club held a fine shoot, but got a bad break from the "weather man."

Dr. Allan Day took the heart out of "C" class and won the sports with a 24 out of 25. Patry, as usual, headed "AA," with 48 out of 50. W. A. Thomson carried it home in "A" class with 22 out of 25, and Bill Majeau cracked 22 in "B" class to get the silverware.

On July 31 there will be held one of the grandest trap-shooting events in years between the Old Timers, captained by Col. P. E. Bowen, and the Newcomers, with Mike at their head.

A Dutch lunch will follow this and suitable prizes will be awarded the winning team, composed of ten men on each side.

Following are the scores:

Class AA—J. L. Patry, 48 out of 50; C. G. Macdougall, 45; E. C. Bowen, 44; G. King, 27. Shot at 25: Fred Tull 22 out of 25; Mike Ainsworth, 21 out of 25.

Class A—W. A. Thomson, 43 out of 50; Hec Gravely, 41 out of 50.

Class B—Bill Majeau, 22 out of 25; Ed. Howard, 18 out of 25.

BASEBALL'S BIG SIX

Their efforts in the all-star game failed to stir the leading major league hitters to new efforts when they returned to action yesterday after their two-day layoff. Bill Terry was the only one of four active members of the big six to improve his batting average and he added only one point to his last-place mark with a single and two runs batted in.

Arky Vaughan, the leader, failed to connect in four attempts and dropped seven points to .381. Bob Johnson and Charley Gehringer got one blow apiece, losing two and three points respectively. Vaughan dropped behind the idle Joe Medwick in the big six lineup.

WATT-MURRAY DUO TRIUMPHS

EDGBASTON, England, July 11.—The youthful Canadian threat in the Mid-Counties tennis championships last night had dwindled to a lone pair in the men's doubles.

Both the Montreal youngsters, Laird Watt and Bobby Murray, fell before redoubtable foreign opponents in the men's singles. Antoine Gentien of France defeated Watt, 6-4, 6-3, and Baron Hubert de Morpurgo of Italy eliminated Murray, 6-2, 6-1, in their second matches.

Watt and Murray got through the first round of the men's doubles with an easy 6-3, 6-3 victory over Adie and Anderson, England. In women's singles Miss Vancouver girls lost 6-0, 6-3, to Misses B. M. and E. L. Watson of Great Britain, who put them out at Wimbledon.

Junior Teams Play Longest and Best Game of This Season

Safeway supporters were preparing for a joyful departure from Renfrew Park last night, their confidence in the winning powers of their favored still strong and buoyant, but they surprisingly remained for three extra innings and a 2-2 deadlock. As a result of Arrow Busses' last desperate stand in the ninth, overcoming Safeway's two-run lead deadlocking the score, the bitterness between the two clubs continues. A "no dice" decision last night forces the replay into another clash which is indicated for the second and a doubleheader at Boyle Street Sunday.

It was one of the longest and best played games in the Junior league. It featured a pitching battle between Ralph Morgan, of Safeway, and Bill Lupul, of Arrow Busses and some fine defensive play by both teams helped dress the game with all thrill trimmings.

STEVENS DID IT

Ernie Stevens, husky hitting Arrow outfielder, turned the Busses' expected fate into near fortune. He did better, while undoubtedly into a hero role for the Arrows, for it was his single base blow in the ninth with the bases loaded that the winning hopes Safeways had been nursing along from the seventh inning.

However disastrous Stevens' single in the ninth didn't start the two-run rally. It was some loose fielding paving the way for those tying runs. Bob Zender's error started it and Morgan put Kelly on first by four pitched balls, advancing Wismer, who gained the runways on Zender's error, to second. A double steal advanced both runners. It set the stage for Stevens and the husky outfielder came through in the pinches. Morgan twirled fine ball out of a bad situation against the next two Arrow batsmen, but the greater damage was done.

Safeways led the game after the seventh with two runs, well earned by four hits. Stevens' error let Lutz scored. They like Kokura and Zender had singles.

Ontario Athletic Commission Takes Large Percentage

TORONTO, July 11.—Many sport and community organizations "will not be able to stand the added tax drain," Secretary W. M. Gladish of of the Allied Sports and Amusement Associations said Wednesday in reference to an announcement the first month's operation of Ontario's new tax on receipts from times the revenue obtained a year ago.

He said the comparison between $239,000 and $80,000 in revenue for June this year and last "should be an eye-opener to sport and community organizations."

"Amateur bodies have been badly hit," he said, adding the heavy increases were on low-priced admissions.

Sensation Caused When Small Arms Team Disqualified

BISLEY CAMP, England, July 11.—A sensation was caused at Bisley Camp Wednesday when the Small Arms School was disqualified in the first stage of shooting for the Roberts Challenge Cup. Scores fired two shots at one exposure of the target, contrary to conditions.

The Roberts is the leading shooting competition, open to teams of 10 and shot at 200 yards. The second stage is at 500.

The Small Arms school won two of the day's events, they took the Hamilton and Mackie Challenge Cup, shot under service conditions at 300 yards and also the Cheesemonger Memorial, a rapid firing competition for teams of four, at 200 yards.

The Marling Challenge Cup, open to all comers, was won by Major T. Ranken with 146, and the Arthur Insurers Challenge, for all comers, by Parke, a naval competitor, with 94.

EAST CRICKET SQUAD WINNER IN MOOSE JAW

Ridley College Eleven is On Winning End Of Score Wednesday

MOOSE JAW, July 11.—Ridley College cricketers defeated Moose Jaw cricket club Wednesday by a score of 161 for five wickets declared, to 138. The time of play was extended half an hour due to rain which fell steadily during the early part of the afternoon, and the game was won in the last five minutes of play.

Bell for-Ridley College played a beautiful innings of 73 which included seven boundaries, and Cassells was not far behind with 70. Bell fell to a brilliant catch by Mc-Leod at square leg off Stewart's bowling.

Following the lunch interval when Ridley had scored 131 for two wickets, the total was taken to 196 for five before the closure was applied. Cole was the most effective of Moose Jaws bowlers taking two for eleven runs. Stewart and Thain got one wicket apiece and one Ridley College man, Mitchell, was run out.

Holden was the most successful Moose Jaw bat, scoring 50 before being caught by Muir off Hutton's bowling. Cole accounted for 17 of the home runs, while Stedmond got 15, and Turner, McLeod and Stewart 12 apiece.

E. McLachlan of the Ridley team got four wickets and Wilson three. Hutton got one wicket as also did Purcell. One man, McLeod of Moose Jaw was run out.

British Driver To Test Record

SALT LAKE CITY, July 11.—John Cobb, British broker and race driver, announced Wednesday he planned to make a one-hour drive on the salt flats west of here Friday, seeking to break many world speed records established by Ab Jenkins, Utah driver.

The Englishman said he expected to begin a 24-hour drive next Monday in an attempt to better Jenkins' mark of 127.22 miles an hour for the day and night grind.

Track Team Sails

NEW YORK, July 11.—A team of 11 track and field athletes, headed by Eulace Peacock of Temple, latest Negro sprint and broad jump sensation, sailed Wednesday for a series of meets in France.

Additional athletes making up two other teams for tours of Finland and Sweden respectively will sail today.

various playgrounds, and the like . . . As a matter of fact, you couldn't ask for a better set-up in its true spirit.

However, such a thing is usually too good to be true. . . . When an amateur sports group is carried beyond its ability to pay, it automatically folds up, for there is never much money behind it in the first place. . . . Mr. Gladish means, if one is to judge his remarks correctly, that this is the condition amateur athletics in Ontario are heading for.

NOW, Ontario and its sports we have never concerned me greatly. We live in the West and our interests are in the West, but it is always a sore point with this columnist to see any other organization treading the same suffocating path as the out-worn Amateur Athletic Union of Canada. . . . There is a body the sole purpose of which is to aid sport throughout the Dominion and promote its interests—yet it has failed miserably. . . . The O.A.C. is supposed to have the same objective in Ontario, and it, likewise, has failed to do anything good w\!' out doing a lot of harm.

Nevertheless, their troubles are their own, and while we do not like to see them come along, we can't do very much about them except express an opinion.

Incidentally, I am assured that the squad will be reinforced very shortly with a few high class ball players, who will make every team in the Northern League step their fastest to beat 'em.

Before signing off, it might be said that one of the finest bats in the country will be here Friday and Saturday with the Ridley College cricket eleven. . . . He is W. E. N. Bell, and he really knows his stuff when it comes to cracking a cricket ball.

Famous Baseball Player Is Dead

WASHINGTON, July 11. — Paul Hines, 80, believed to be the first baseball player to make an unassisted triple play, died Wednesday. Baseball records credit Hines with making an unassisted triple play against Boston May 8, 1878, while he was playing with Providence.
